Teachers Elect Goebel; Attendance Hits Record

. . . 4,400 Register At District I NSEA Meeting

By Nancy Benjamin

Henry E. Goebel, science instructor at Irving Junior High School and president of the Lincoln Teachers Assn., was elected new president of the Nebraska State Education Assn. District I at a convention which broke attendance records Thursday.

Goebel succeeds Miss Evelyn Ripa, formerly of Wilber and now of Lincoln, who heads the present session.

District I vice presidency went to Ralph Farrar of Wilber. Re-elected were Miss Gwendoline Birky of Lincoln, secretary; E. J. Lamberty of Seward, treasurer; and H. L. Beal of Beatrice, executive committeeman.

"We are heading into a legislative year and with lots of ideas on education floating around teachers are especially interested, watching what may become some of the answers to school old problems," the new president said.

"Teachers with whom I am acquainted are well conversant with upcoming legislation and about as well a registered voter group as there is in Lincoln."

'Direct Influence'

"We cannot overlook the fact that such decisions on taxation and redistricting which may be decided by the next legislature will have a direct influence on us," Goebel said.

Attendance records broke all estimates with a total of 4,400 registered by late Thursday and more expected to sign in during Friday morning sessions.

The crowd filled Pershing Municipal Auditorium at general sessions and caused crowded section and division meetings which overflowed into hotel, auditorium, and church meeting rooms.

Out Of Programs

Printed programs of the busy event schedule vanished early in registration and latecomers were forced to ask directions from the fortunates with programs, or follow hastily erected signs to group meetings.

"Revolution", "new principles", "international standards", and 'individual importance" were words heard frequently at opening day sessions of the District I 38th annual convention in Lincoln.

In speeches aimed at subjects from art to business education, teachers were challenged with the changing concepts of education, and the growing need for facing the problems which are arising from them.

Food For Thought

At general sessions attended by more than 2,000 of the teachers, keynote speakers gave teachers food for thought on the importance of their profession and the need for improvement.

Elsie Farris, lawyer and founder of the International Christian Scholarship Foundation urged the educators to recognize and face 3 challenges of the newest revolution, "the revolution of ideas."

"We must not accept with any feelings of intimidation, criticism of the American education system," Miss Farris emphasized, "We must be open to suggestion but never to intimidation."

The woman lawyer who has traveled widely with the international scholarship foundation scored the idea that she said "has become prevalent that Russian education possibly may be better than our own."

She urged the teachers to "come to evaluate and appreciate what we have here and what we have meant to the world's educational systems."

'New Creative Thinking'

But, she warned, "The time has come when we must start a new kind of creative thinking—in the pattern of truth." "I am increasingly disturbed by our worship of science," she stated. "Science needs the additional blessing of the knowledge of its own limitations. It is not to be worshipped; it is a tool to be used."

She also called on the teachers to meet the challenge of better understanding with an accent on youth.

Humorist and educator Edward McFaul made a serious point by means of humorous anecdotes when he reviewed the subject of semantics at the Thursday general session.

'Don't Understand'

McFaul told his audience that the problem of communication exists not only between nations with language barriers "but we don't even understand each other."

"We spend more time in conversation than in any other human activity," he pointed out, warning teachers to avoid the pitfall of underestimating the importance of the "action and interaction" set into motion by a single word or sentence.

Teachers speak an average of 150 words a minute, which means 9,000 words an hour, McFaul commented, cautioning teachers to use those words well and clearly.

55-Yank Rescue Ordered From Rebel Cuba

Havana (AP) — U.S. Naval Forces in eastern Cuba got orders Thursday night to remove about 55 American women and children from areas infested by Cuban rebel kidnap gangs.

The American embassy in Havana said the evacuation of dependents of about 25 American nickel plant workers in northeast Cuba would be carried out as quickly as possible.

American forces in Cuba are concentrated at the Guantanamo Naval Base in southeast Cuba. The U.S. Navy itself suffered kidnapings last spring when the rebels of the Castro brothers sized a total of 50 sailors, Marines and American businessmen. All were released.

The men whose women and children are being taken out work at the U.S. government-owned Nicaro nickel plant in the north coastal area of Oriente Province. The plant and personnel have been reported harassed this week by roving rebel bands.

A U.S. transport is expected to sail from the Guantanamo base Friday for Nicaro. The town is on Levisa Bay about 100 miles from Cuba's eastern tip and 45 miles north of Guantanamo as the crow flies.

The evacuation was ordered after a day that saw:

1. The release of two American and 7 Cuban employes of the Texas Oil Co., who were kidnaped Monday near Santiago, the Oriente capital.

2. The presumption by the Cubana airlines that a missing DC3 airliner with 14 persons aboard had been taken over in flight by rebels and forced to land in rebel territory. The airlines emphasized that this was a presumption and not known.

Home Building Said Changing From Craft Work To Industrial Process

By David Clark

"Building is changing from a craft process to an industrial process," Martin Bartling, second vice president of the National Association of Home Builders, said Thursday night.

In Lincoln to address the Home Builders Association of Lincoln, Bartling said the most exciting development in the home building industry is the increasing emphasis on research.

"The industry is the second largest in America," he said, "the largest being the food industry. The government spends hundreds of millions on research on food, and not one dime on shelter research."

"We're engaged in a 9-point program of research on the uses of aluminum, steel, concrete, plywood, etc., as home building materials," he continued.

More Plastic, Metal

"I think you'll see in the near future the use of a great deal more plastic and aluminum. This is not the end of the brick and lumber industries, however. We're experimenting with the use of wood in combination with other materials."

Bartling cited a newly completed house in Knoxville, Tenn., as an example of NAHB research. The house, which Bartling built, is written up in the Oct. 27 issue of Time magazine.

The house features pre-finished wall sections, aluminum roof sheets, plastic plumbing, pre-assembled electrical wiring, ceiling-to-floor doors and windows and other features that simplify building.

"This house, mass-produced, would sell for about $13,500," Bartling said. "It has three bedrooms and is air-conditioned."

Money Problems

Bartling listed the three main problems facing home builders this year. They are unavailability of money for houses, inflation, and the higher cost of building materials in that order.

"Inflation in a way helps us," he said. "Real estate and houses become the only really safe investment, so many people spend their money with us rather than somebody else."

Bartling spoke Thursday night before a meeting of 200 home builders representing 127 firms. The 16-year-old NAHB has 40,000 members over the nation. Chile, France, New Zealand and Canada have chapters, Bartling said.

"We're pretty proud of our organization," he said. "It's a labor of love. The dues paid by members finance the research projects. We've built three in the past 18 months, and they average $1 million each in cost."

Bartling seemed impressed by Lincoln's home building industry.

'High Quality Here'

"The main things I like here are the high quality and good design," he said. "The houses have low cost, compared to my part of the country, good architecture and lots of space. I wasn't expecting anything this good."

Bartling said the recession caused home building last year to drop to under 900,000 units.

"This year we may go to around 1,200,000," he said, "which will be a good year."

The NAHB vice president said he could find little evidence of a building recession here.

"With a SAC base, a university and the state capitol, you seem to have a built-in stability," he concluded.

IKE 'SIDESTEPPED' LEADERSHIP—HST

...Charges Violence Permitted

Boston (AP)—Harry S. Truman said Thursday night that President Eisenhower side-stepped his "moral responsibility" to back the Supreme Court's school integration decision and permitted a wave of violence by "crackpots and extremists."

The former President cut loose at his Republican successor in the White House for what he described as failure to exert "the proper leadership" at the "proper time" in the last 4 years.

"The President has never told the nation that he believed the Supreme Court's decision was morally right," Truman said in an address at a Democratic fund raising dinner. "He has carefully avoided stating his views on that subject.

"For 3 years, the administration stood aside, while the opposition in some parts of the country gathered its strength. Only when there was outright defiance of the courts by a sovereign state did the President move into action. That was too late. The opposition to law had solidified and the poison of hate had already spread."

The 74-year-old Democratic war horse wound up his national campaigning for party nominees for Senate and House with a firm declaration of his own "unequivocable" position that the Supreme Court decision is not only the law but that "it is morally right."

Difference

Truman spoke out in the face of bitter difference within his own party and the threat of a Democratic revolt in some southern states over the issue which has closed the Little Rock, Ark., Central High and other southern schools.

He said it was not enough for Eisenhower to "deplore" the "83 instances of bombings of schools, homes and religious institutions traceable to the desegration conflict."

The President, Truman added, "has a moral responsibility in this matter" and "must exercise active, affirmative leadership."

LAST CALL FOR REGISTRATION

The Lancaster County Election Commissioner's Office in the Trust Building at 10th and O will be open until 5 p.m. today for final voter registration for the Nov. 4 election.

Election officials warn that all voters must register and all who have moved since last registering must change their address listings to be eligible to cast a ballot Nov. 4.

Little Change In Weather Forecast

No big weather change is in store for Nebraskans, the Weather Bureau said.

Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected all across the state. Temperatures will remain about the same, the Bureau said, highs in the 60s.

Thursday the state low was 21 at North Platte. Imperial had the high of 69. Lincoln recorded 64 and 43 in town and 65 and 39 at the Air Base.

Escape Is Blocked Mile Underground

. . . 69 Miners Rescued; 1 Dead, 16 Hurt

Springhill, N.S. (Friday) (AP) —The floor of a tunnel a mile deep in a Nova Scotia coal mine heaved upward Thursday night, trapping 166 miners.

Early Friday a company spokesman said 96 men still were missing in the No. 2 Cumberland mine, 69 had been rescued and one miner was known to have been killed.

Sixteen of those rescued were reported injured.

John Thompson, a 28-year-old Nova Scotia newspaperman, was killed in an automobile accident as he hurried to cover the mine disaster.

Early reports had said 167 men reported for the night shift, but the company later said only 166 were below ground.

One man who escaped said the rock shift knocked out the mine ventilation system. He said there was gas at the 3,400-foot level—almost two miles closer to the mine exit than the missing men were.

Men, women and children —many weeping—huddled at the pithead awaiting word from a mine rescue team on the fate of the 96 below.

The accident occurred at 8:05 p.m.. ADT. (5:05 p.m. CST).

The 20-man rescue team headed by George Calder, manager of Cumberland Railway and Coal Company, entered the shaft 55 minutes later. At midnight they had not returned to the surface.

'Terrible'

Bert MacArthur, who escaped and reported that a rockfall knocked out the ventilation, said:

"The situation's terrible."

One unidentified miner was taken to a hospital. A 2nd, Percy MacDonald was helped from the mine by his two sons. He was in a state of shock.

The big bump came at the No. 2 mine of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co., a subsidiary of the Dominion Steel and Coal Co. The climax of a series of upheavals there this year, it was felt throughout the town. Houses trembled and dishes shook on their shelves.

Such movements ordinarily mean a sudden shift in the floor, walls or passages. The No. 2 mine adjoins a closed colliery where 39 men died in an explosion in November, 1956.

Faces Black

Miners Joe MacMannaman and Charles Alderson walked to the surface about an hour after the upheaval. Their faces were black and grim. They said their mates were trapped.

The slope into the No. 2 mine, where coal seams are worked as far as 2.7 miles from the pithead and 4,400 feet down. The working levels branch off from this slope.

Thompson said the mine was one of the deepest in the world.

Crowds at the mine were kept back by a rope barrier. The grim days of November 1956 were being relived by most of the hundreds of townfolk who flocked to the mine entrance. Many of those waiting at the pithead had lost fathers, sons or brothers among the 39 who died two years ago.

Lichtenberger Resigns, Takes National Post

The resignation of A. R. Lichtenberger, research director for the State Department of Education, has been announced by F. B. Decker, state education commissioner.

Lichtenberger

Lichtenberger, who has been with the department for the past 9½ years, has been appointed a consultant on records and reports in the U.S. Office of Education, Washington, D.C.

His resignation is effective Nov. 1.

Prior to becoming a staff member of the State Education Department, Lichtenberger was superintendent of schools at Westside, Lyons, and Beaver City. He was a rural school teacher before becoming superintendent at Beaver City.

While in Lincoln, Lichtenberger was associated with the Shrine, Scottish Rite Masons, Knife and Fork Club, Toastmasters Club, American Inter-Professional Institute, and is an elder of the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

He also is a member of the Nebraska State Education Assn., National Education Assn., and the Capitol City Education Assn.

No Fight Assured By U.S.

. . . Dulles Remark

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Thursday the United States is "not going to attack or tolerate attacks agains the Chinese Communists" in the Formosa Strait.

Dulles' statement, made in a television interview filmed for use in Great Britain, was made public here while the secretary was flying home from talks at Taipei. Formosa, with Chiang Kai-shek.

He was bringing with him a reported promise from the President of Nationalist China to consider reducing National-ist forces on the Quemoy Matsu islands near the Chinese Communist mainland.

Developments at Taipei and Washington indicated the United States and Nationalist China were trying to bring the pressure of world public opinion to bear on the Red Chinese to institute a long term cease-fire.

Reassure

They also appeared to be trying to reassure this country's European allies and neutralist nations that they have no aggressive plans in the Formosa area.

A communique issued at Taipei on the Dulles-Chiang conference contained a public renunciation of the use of force by Nationalist China to return to the mainland. It said the Nationalists would rely upon peaceful means to carry out their "sacred mission" of freeing China's 600 million people from Communist rule.

Both the communique and the television interview contained firm declarations of intent not to yield to force or threats of force by the Chinese Reds. In their joint statement, Dulles and Chiang expressed belief that in the face of U.S.-Nationalist determination to stand firm the Reds "will not put their policy to the test of general war."

Dulles told his British audience that "the whole position of the free world in the western Pacific, running from Japan . . . down to Viet Nam, Australia and New Zealand, depends upon maintaining a strong line against the thrusts of the Chinese Communists."

BACK IN U.S.

Andrews Air Force Base, Md. (Friday) (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived here at 12:44 a.m. EDT Friday from conferences with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa.

Playhouse Fire Kills Boy

Linwood, Neb. (AP) — Bobby Kenneth Krieger, 6, was burned to death Thursday while playing in a converted dog house on the family farm two miles east of here. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Krieger.

Authorities said the child was playing with matches in the playhouse with his brother Michael, 4. The floor of the 4 by 6 foot building was covered with straw.

His mother did not realize the boy was in the house at the time of the fire. Michael was not hurt.

NU Professor Finds Honest Effort In India To Solve Own Problems

The number of people you meet while walking the streets of India is like walking down O Street here on a busy shopping night, a University of Nebraska staff member reports after attending the triennial International Conference of Agricultural Economists at Mysore, India.

Dr. Ottoson

"You can feel the masses of people moving through the streets of India," said Dr. Howard W. Ottoson, chairman of the Department of Agricultural Economics at the College of Agriculture.

Three hundred agricultural economists from 56 countries attended the Conference which discussed economic problems in underdeveloped countries such as India.

Food Runs Short

"Like many underdeveloped countries, increasing population is the main problem in India today," Dr. Ottoson explains, "because of its relationship to food supply."

"India currently has less food per capita than 20 years ago when the population was lower. Now population is continuing to increase through improved sanitation methods, vaccination and medical care. As a result, the child death rate has dropped greatly."

"You get the idea while traveling through India that the country is led by a devoted, hard-working and honest group of people from Nehru on down. They have a determination to put the country on its feet," Dr. Ottoson said.

Nehru Liked

"Nehru is a very impressive man, personally. He has a wide grasp of the political and economic problems not only of India but the world in general. He is a leading world statesman — realistic, energetic, but humble and obviously loved by the common people."

In an effort to develop India economically, the government operates under a 5-year plan aimed at increasing industrial production and food production.

Too Much To Do

"But India has a long way to go and they are trying to solve all of their problems at once and time is short," Dr. Ottoson said. "Some visiting economists felt that India is trying to do too many things too fast in view of its resources."

"India has a long way to go in agriculture," the Nebraska economist added. "Yields are low, farming methods are primitive, and land use seems to be somewhat wasteful. Pastures are severely overgrazed and a complicating factor is the large population of animals which cannot be slaughtered for religious reasons."

Education Needed

Another complicating problem is the need for mass education. There seems to be plenty of highly-trained technicians, researchers and administrative personnel, but a lack of teachers at the village level, he said. In fact, the 70,000 or 80,000 villages seem to be the key to economic adjustments needed in India. People in villages seem conservative and slow to change customs and practices, he said.

In discussing countries such as India, Dr. Ottoson said he was impressed with the agreement among delegates to the Conference on approaches to solving economic adjustments in underdeveloped countries.

In addition to touring India, Dr. Ottoson also visited the British Ministry of Agriculture and Oxford University in England, the Royal Agricultural College at Upsala, Sweden and the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations at Rome, Italy.

No Rise In Living Costs

. . . Factory Workers' Earnings Jump

Washington (AP)—Living costs in September took another breather from their steady climb while factory worker earnings rose to a record high.

Family living costs averaged the same in September as in August at 123.7% of the 1947-49 base period. They had risen for two straight years until they dipped a bit between July and August.

So lack of a September increase was welcome news even though the experts cautioned another slight rise can be expected when October costs are calculated.

Ewan Clague, Labor Department statistics chief, said higher prices of 1959 model cars and other items seemed to be outweighing price declines so far in October.

"Pressures on the upside will probably be stronger," Clague said.

Factory workers' spendable earnings, best spot measurement of what wages are doing, registered new peaks. The Labor Department said average weekly earnings, after federal tax deductions, rose to $69.80 for the single factory worker and to $77.25 for the worker heading a family of 4.

Up $1.80

This is up $1.80 from September a year ago. Worker buying power also is rising because of longer working hours, increased hourly pay rates, and comparatively steady price levels.

Clague said living costs, despite their slight monthly changes, actually are fairly stable and he feels this will continue for at least 6 months.

Charity Work Exempts Club —Legionnaires

The treasurer of Lincoln's Legionnaire Club said all profits from the club go to American Legion Post 3 for promotion of child welfare and youth projects as well as other charitable activities.

In a reply to Lancaster County Commissioner Del Lienemann's plans to investigate the Club's tax-exempt status, Leo Beck Sr. outlined the club's operation.

The club, Beck said, is a non-stock, non-profit organization owned by the 40 and 8, the Legion's "fun" group. "No member of the board of directors of the club or Legion members ever receive dividends from the club," Beck added.

He said the club was organized in 1940 as a tax-free corporation by the federal government.

The Legionnaire Club was made a separate organization from the Legion to prevent club financial matters from coming up for discussion at Legion meetings, Beck said.

Nobel Prize Is Given To Russ Writer

. . . Criticized Commies

Stockholm (AP) — The Nobel Prize for Literature was awarded Thursday to Boris Pasternak, a Soviet writer whose "Doctor Zhivago" criticizes Communism.

Pasternak

This book, banned in Russian and printed abroad over Soviet objection, is the first novel of the 68-year-old Russian poet.

The 18 members of the Royal Swedish Academy made the Nobel award, worth $41,420.

The academy notified both Pasternak and Nikolai Voinov, Soviet charge d'affaires in Stockholm, of the award decision.

There was speculation that Soviet authorities may take reprisals against Pasternak or at least prevent him from receiving his prize. Nobel Prize winners generally come here to receive their awards and to discourse on their field.

Mrs. FDR Says Russian Satellite Excitement Stupid

Kalamazoo, Mich. (UPI)—Eleanor Roosevelt told a press conference the launching of the Russian satellites caused "the stupidest excitement" in the United States.

She said because the Soviet Union succeeding in establishing satellites before America "does not mean that the Russian educational system is superior to ours. The goals of the two systems differ."

The goal of the USSR system, Mrs. Roosevelt said, is to produce a "disciplined citizen" while the American educational system strives to produce a "free and responsible citizen, a citizen who has had the opportunity to develop his individual potential."

She said she favored admitting Red China to the United Nations "only after that nation removes its troops from North Korea and North Viet Nam."

According to police officials Schafer was found several hours after he fell. He was listed as being "fairly well" at a local hospital.

Hungarians Pass Bloody Anniversary

. . Under Armed Guard

Budapest (UPI) — The second anniversary of the bloody 1956 Hungarian revolt passed without incident Thursday amid a general tightening up of security forces.

The nation's Communist leaders strengthened guards in some places and reliable sources said police arrested several hundred persons as a precautionary measure. Last year a large group was placed in temporary protective custody until the anniversary date had passed.

Life in Budapest, center of some of the bitterest fighting that marked the revolt, flowed normally and reports from provincial centers indicated the day was calm.

Two Budapest cemeteries had more visitors than normally. Many of the persons who were killed in the revolt were buried in the cemeteries, some of them in mass graves.

Alabama Vote Rights Probe Set

. . . To Check Records

Washington (AP)—Denied access to registration records in Alabama, the Federal Civil Rights Commission Thursday ordered a hearing on alleged denial of voting rights in that state.

The hearing, opening in Montgomery Dec. 8, will be the first held by the commission since it was created by Congress in 1957.

Chairman John A. Hannah told a news conference the hearing would be confined to allegations of denial of the right to vote in Alabama. He had been asked whether it also would be concerned with the refusal of the Macon County voter registration board to show its records to commission agents.

Not Decided

Vice Chairman Robert G. Storey said it had not been decided whether the Montgomery hearing would be open to the public, but added that as far as he could see now it probably would be. The commission's decision to hold the hearing was unanimous.

The commission also announced after a closed session that it had authorized further investigations of alleged denial of voting rights in Mississippi and Florida. The first investigations in those states were authorized in September. There have been additional complaints since then.

Final Wheel Tax Refunds Go In Mail

The last of the 22,000 city wheel tax refund checks went into the mails Thursday, according to City Coordinator James Mallon.

Noting that the checks are cashable anywhere, Mallon urged Lincolnites not bring them to the city treasurer's office.

The refund of some $120,000 is being made to Lincolnites who paid the street improvement levy on motor vehicles under a now-repealed ordinance.

Mallon said the checks, written by machine, were run off in 8 hours or about 50 checks per minute.

He said the size of this operation was comparable to the total number of city warrants written during a half-year of city business.

Breakfast To Back Street Program

More than 200 presidents of civic organizations, members of the Downtown Development of Lincoln, Inc., and Chamber of Commerce leaders are expected to attend an Oct. 28, "President's Breakfast," on behalf of Mayor Bennett Martin's street improvement plan.

Mayor Martin, State Engineer L. N. Ress and City Engineer Carl Fisher are slated speakers at the 7:30 a.m. event at the Cornhusker.

At the breakfast, sponsored by the Downtown Development organization, facts will be presented stressing the need for the street improvement plan.

John Lawlor, president of Downtown Development of Lincoln, Inc., will preside.

Aswan To Get Red Aid

. . . Loan To Nasser

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet government announced Thursday night a 400 million ruble loan to the United Arab Republic to aid in building the huge Aswan dam project on the Nile.

The announcement was made by Nikita Khrushchev at a Kremlin reception for the visiting Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, a vice president in the Nasser regime.

Amer replied that the people of the U.A.R. would be glad to learn of the Soviet aid.

(The ambitious Aswan high dam project for irrigation and electric power development figured disastrously for the West in a series of 1956 Mideast crises. A plan for American British-World Bank backing was withdrawn suddenly in an announcement by Secretary of State Dulles. Almost immediately, in July 1956, President Nasser seized and nationalized the Suez Canal as a source of revenue, he said, to finance his projects such as Aswan. The Israeli, British-French invasions of Egypt followed in October-November and crisis has followed upon crisis since.)

$100 Million

Khrushchev said the loan would be used for deliveries of Soviet machinery, equipment and other materials the U.A.R. lacks and for Soviet technicians and specialists. He said it would amount to up to 400 million rubles—equivalent of 100 million dollars at the official exchange rate applicable in such foreign aid transactions. No terms of interest were reported.

The aid was requested by Amer, who has been in Moscow on an official visit since Oct. 18. Before that he was in Czechoslovakia for a week. Both the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia are sources of arms used by the U.A.R.

Mayor Sees Merit In Paving Streets, Walks At Same Time

The possibility of including new sidewalk construction as part of paving projects was termed "well worth considering" by Mayor Bennett Martin Thursday.

The City Council has under consideration the policy question of sidewalks on one side or both sides of the street in new residential developments.

Report Awaited

"It is difficult to determine which side should put in walks in new subdivisions, when schools and other facilities can change the picture in a few years," he said.

Martin said the Planning Commission's report would be awaited before any determination of future sidewalk policy is made by the Council, but a number of suggestions have been made.

The city needs to "take a good long look" at the sidewalk problem and try to come up with a "fair and equitable solution for all property owners."

Both Sides More Equal

Also to be considered is more equal distribution of the cost if the sidewalk is ordered in on only one side and between individual properties if unusual construction problems develop.

Eldridge Lovelace, St Louis planning consultant, has said sidewalks on both sides of the street is favored in suburban residential areas and is fairer for property owners.

De Gaulle Calls Rebel Conference

. . . On Cease-Fire

Paris (AP)—Premier Charles de Gaulle, in a bid to end the exhausting Algerian war, Thursday appealed to the rebels to come to France for cease-fire negotiations.

He gave his personal guarantee of safe conduct to the representatives of the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN)—leaders of the 4-year-old rebellion.

De Gaulle issued his dramatic end-of-hostilities invitation at his first press conference since becoming premier of a tired, embittered and divided France in June.

At the same time, the 67-year-old general announced that France would soon become a member of the exclusive "atomic club" and consequently could not agree with Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia to a ban on testing nuclear weapons.

He said firmly that he considered such a ban useless and deception as long as the big powers continued to manufacture and stockpile the death dealing weapons.

Ike Winds Up Slam-'Em-Hard Campaigning

President Says He Found 'No Pessimism Or Apathy'

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower enthusiastically wound up a slam-'em-hard campaign trip Thursday and immediately gave thought to hitting the trail again.

"I didn't run into any pessimism or apathy," Eisenhower told a cheering crowd of Republican leaders and others that met him at the airport.

He seemed unwearied by his 6 days of speechmaking over a 5,300-mile circuit, during which he denounced the Democratic opposition with a sharpness unprecedented for him.

Eisenhower also appeared to be surprised at the crowd that turned out to meet him. He walked down the ramp from his plane unsmilingly until he caught sight of the people. Then he waved and saluted, beamingly.

'Quite A Gang'

"Thanks for coming out," he told them. "I didn't know there was going to be all this out here. Quite a gang."

The crowd included some young Republicans waving and jiggling placards bearing pictures of the President.

It was as he stood talking with GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn and Mrs. Clare Williams, assistant national chairman, that Eisenhower reported he hadn't met either apathy or pessimism on his campaign tour in behalf of Republican candidates in the Nov. 4 elections.

"We're proud of you," Mrs. Williams told the President.

Future Plans

Alcorn and Eisenhower conferred at the White House almost as soon as the President reached there. The party chairman reported afterward that they talked of plans for further campaigning by Eisenhower. He said plans may be announced early next week.

"I think the President's trip has fired up the party in a way I haven't seen it fired up since I've been down here," Alcorn told reporters. He became chairman last Jan. 22 and some of his appraisals since then have been on the gloomy side. Alcorn sounded cheerful Thursday.

State Hospital Needs More TB Equipment

. . . Doctors Say

A "rather serious problem" facing Lincoln State Hospital is the lack of adequate laboratory and x-ray facilities in the new Tuberculosis Building at the hospital, Lincoln physician Dr. Hiram Hilton said Thursday.

He said this sentiment was expressed by members of the Nebraska Trudeau Society, an organization of Nebraska physicians interested in tuberculosis, following a tour of the Tuberculosis Building Thursday.

Some 30 to 35 members from over the state made the tour, according to Dr. Hilton who heads the group.

Dr. George L. Clark, resident physician at the State Hospital who specializes in tuberculosis treatment, presented cases to the group of physicians, and Lincoln radiologist Dr. Richard Todd and Dr. Hilton discussed cases before the Society.

The group agreed the recently completed TB Building was a fine structure, Dr. Hilton said, but added that "bricks and mortar alone do not constitute a good hospital facility."

The lab and x-ray facilities are "badly needed," he said, to make the unit complete.

School Clerical Assn. Honors Miss Beever For Long Service

Thirty-seven years of service was saluted by members of the Lincoln Public Schools Clerical Assn. Thursday.

Miss Dorothy Beever, secretary to Schools Supt. Steven Watkins, received the recognition at the luncheon session of the school clerks' first teachers institute workshop since the association was organized.

Miss Beever called the recognition "appreciated" and described her many years working with schools as "very enjoyable."

Her service in number of years places her first in this category among Association members.

Miss Beever joined the ranks of office workers serving schools and students Jan. 14, 1922, when she worked in the assistant superintendent's office staff. After that came a post as secretary to the Lincoln High School principal.

She became School Supt. Steven Watkins' secretary in 1952, assuming with this post another job of being clerk to the Lincoln School Board.

Miss Beever was the first certified professional secretary in Lincoln, a past president of the Lincoln Public Schools Clerical Assn., and active in the Eastern Star and National Secretaries Assn.

Workshop speakers for the Clerical Association's workshop included, Mrs. Mary Sawtell Archerd of the State Dept. of Education staff and Dr. Robert Lookabaugh, Lincoln optician.

South Dakota Man Gets 18-Month Term

Aged Need Year Round Attention

. . . Dr. Palmer Says

Communities tend to overwhelm aged persons on holidays and then neglect them throughout the remainder of the year, Dr. Janet Palmer, consultant psychiatrist for Lincoln public schools, told members of the Nebraska Social Work Institute meeting at the University of Nebraska.

"We should give old people a steady rate of attention instead of only 3 times a year," Dr. Palmer said.

"Older people should be treated as we would treat any other people," she said.

Attendance at the opening session of the 15th annual meeting of the organization soared to an all-time high as 190 persons signed up for the 2-day program.

The institute is sponsored by the Graduate School of Social Work, State Division of Public Welfare and the Nebraska Welfare Assn.

At Friday's noon luncheon Dr. Everett E. Peterson, extension agricultural economist at NU, will speak.

Benson Predicts GOP Will Hold Its Farm Belt Seats

. . . And Maybe Pick Up A Few

Washington (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson, just back from a stumping tour, predicted Thursday the Republicans would hold all their farm belt Congressional seats and possibly pick up a few in the Nov. 4 election.

But Benson said he would not help Republican Sen. Edward J. Thye (Minn.) in his tough fight for reelection against Rep. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.). He said Thye "has not seen fit to support the administration's farm program."

At a news conference devoted almost exclusively to politics, Benson was asked about polls which show GOP candidates trailing in many areas visited by the secretary.

"I can call them only as I see them," he replied. "I could be wrong. I may be wrong. I am no political analyst."

However, he said, "I can't help but feel that Republican candidates will do all right."

Interstate And Industry

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The City Planning Commission is getting a head start on problems which will be facing Lincoln from time to time in connection with the Interstate Highway to skirt the north part of town. Two areas of study are being undertaken by the commission through its advisory consultant, Eldridge Lovelace of Harland Bartholomew & Associates, St. Louis, Mo.

The first area of study involves service for traffic using the interstate. There has always been an air of uncertainty over what effects the Interstate would have on present service facilities located alongside existing highways. A great many people have expressed the thought that many of these businesses would die and that the Interstate would actually result in an economic setback for Lincoln and Nebraska. Lovelace does not agree with this theory and his position is a sound one.

Affecting Present Businesses

As the consultant explained, a driver who needs overnight accommodations will travel off of the Interstate and to existing motel, restaurant and other service locations. It is difficult to understand how they could do anything else. If there are no such facilities on the Interstate—and there will be none—they must be found elsewhere.

As further evidence of this, plans were just recently announced by an out-of-state firm for construction of an expensive motel establishment with swimming pool and restaurant near or along Cornhusker Highway. Money would not be going into this venture if the Interstate was going to keep customers away.

But Lovelace did report on the need for the location of service facilities nearer the Interstate for short stops. This would cover such en route stops at those for gasoline and lunch. This is the place where the conflict is going to arise and where the commission will face a hard problem.

It is not going to be easy to tell a man his property can be used for a service station or lunch room but not for a motel, garage or some other more extensive service. With the traffic load the Interstate will be carrying, there will be plenty of demand to locate all conceivable kinds of service facilities along Highway 77 between Cornhusker Highway and the Interstate.

The business interests along Cornhusker Highway, of course, will not approve of business developments that will put them out of business. They will most assuredly remind the commission that it is the job of zoning to protect existing property values as well as give assurance of orderly future growth.

They will have a point, also, in the fact that this new influence upon their business investment is something for which they are not responsible nor had any control over. They will stipulate that unnatural changes in conditions which affect them should not be allowed to destroy their investment.

They made their investment on the basis of the existence of certain facts and facilities. They will want to know the equity of governmental alterations of these facts which they accepted in good faith and which are now being turned toward their own destruction. Then, there is the other side of the story. Fortunes have always been built and lost in America as progress changes the demands of people. Free enterprise can be destroyed with the exercise of too much government control. If Highway 77 frontage cannot be used for a profitable business venture, then the owner has been deprived of his property without due process of law.

Two Sides To The Matter

And a great many other arguments on both sides will be dug up before the question is finally settled. The Interstate will be a fine thing for Nebraska but it will be a headache to the commission the likes of which it has not seen since the days of the Cushman case, 48th and A and a few other good lively events.

Stronger Ties With Chiang

From all that is said about the recent visit of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles with Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek, the trip left the U.S. even more closely aligned with Formosa than was the case in the past. Both American and Nationalist forces have declared that it was the purpose of the visit to "further consolidate a relationship of mutual trust and confidence which is of immense value to all of the free world."

Chiang described Dulles as an "inexorable and uncompromising antagonist to Communism and to its evil accompaniment of aggression and conquest by force." Dulles described Chiang as a "great leader of the free world." These are not the statements of men who hold a very grievous difference of opinion. They are not statements that show a clash of interests or resentment.

It was believed that the trip by Dulles was being made to pave the way for a peaceful settlement of the Formosa Straits issue. The U.S. approach to this peace has been through opposition to Red Chinese force against the off-shore islands of Matsu and Quemoy but with expression of the thought that the islands might eventually be neutralized and destroyed as an effective military asset for either the Nationalists or Red China.

The Nationalists opposed any such thought and the Dulles-Chiang meeting was thus billed as one in which the final settlement would leave a bad taste in the mouth of the Nationalist leader. It might be significant that such is evidently not the case. The only thing that could have left Chiang in such high spirits and singing the praises of Dulles would be a conviction that the Reds had gained nothing as a result of Quemoy and Matsu.

The Reds helped Chiang's cause considerably by breaking their cease-fire order against the two islands. This came at a bad time politically for Dulles and the President as they were pushing peace as a campaign theme. It could have sent Dulles to face Chiang with no small amount of disgust for the Reds on the mainland. Chiang could have fed this feeling by pointing out that he said in the beginning that the Communists could not be trusted and the cease-fire meant nothing.

This is all speculation, to be sure, but official statements on the meeting give no sign that Dulles showed any desire of the U.S. relenting in its opposition to the spread of Communism anywhere in Asia or the South Pacific.

Not Just GNP

Not all economists accept the gross national product as the most accurate yardstick of relative prosperity. If they did then there would be an unanimous decision that 1958 will turn out to be the finest year in history. The GNP is estimated to wind up at $450 billion. That would be an all time high.

Yet the year has experienced a depression and currently has 4.5 million unemployed. The federal budget fell out of balance by several billion. Inflation has moved forward several notches. Government bonds are harder to sell than in the past. And agriculture has more surpluses than ever and a shakier price condition. There is a general feeling that higher prices have done more to increase the GNP than wholesome trade.

As the economists figure the gross national product it is an accumulation of all goods and services produced during the year to which is given a dollar value. It has a place in national pulse taking, to be sure, but prudent, understanding Americans will judge the well-being of their capitalist economy by added yardsticks. And one of the most critical of these is the relative size and well being of the American middle class — the landed operator, the proprietors of the small and middle sized businesses and the schooled services.

The remarkable virtue of capitalism is not that of developing industrial or commercial bigness or of rewarding some here and there with great wealth, or in the absence of government service and regulation. It is rather that it offers the most fertile of all soil for the cultivation of an able, free and adequately rewarded middle class. America's tremendous rise has resulted largely from that quarter.

While the GNP in 1958 eclipses the past it is still a matter of concern the once propertied farm operators are leaving the farm to enter the labor pool and that small business and industry is being absorbed or consumed by ever growing industrial and business collectives. It is also a matter for concern that inflation is being allowed to continue, for nothing saps the strength of the great middle class more than the discounting of its reserves and operating capital.

It is perhaps the saddest indictment of the current national administration that it is countering its boast of restoring capitalism with a series of actions, including the decimation of agriculture, that is draining the essence of the system.

Heart Warming

It was heart warming to read that American soldiers contributed substantial sums first to send a stricken 5-year-old German boy to this country for life saving heart surgery and then to send his mother over to be at his bedside.

Besides being an exercise in enlightenment it is an act of diplomacy of the highest order. This country is as proud of those GI's as their German community is appreciative. It will be a long while before that good deed will be forgotten because everyone got a reward out of it.

How About It?

The optical people have just come up with a hand telescope with ingenious attachments which will tell a fisherman at a glance just where he is and how he can get to exactly where he was on the lake yesterday — price $29.95.

As a fish finder this device should find rather good sale among Nebraskans, but the company could sell them hand over fist right now if it would guarantee that would also fix the position of the candidates running for election.

Law Laggard In Goldfine Matter

WASHINGTON — The Treasury has dumped a very hot potato in the lap of the Justice Department, but you can be sure nothing will be done about it until after the elections—if then.

The hot potato is a recommendation that the Justice Department prosecute Bernard Goldfine, close friend of Sherman Adams, for wilful failure to file income taxes.

During the Goldfine-Adams investigation it leaked out that Goldfine had not filed his 1956 tax return, also was delinquent in filing his 1957 return due last spring. It also developed that he and his companies were delinquent with some of their state and municipal taxes in New England.

The Treasury has nothing to do with the latter, but it is under compulsion to require every citizen to file a federal income tax return. Accordingly it has now recommended Goldfine's prosecution for wilful failure to file.

Ordinarily an official Treasury recommendation of this kind receives prompt action by the Justice Department. If a complicated tax case is sent to the Justice Department there may be justifiable delay. But wilful failure to file is clear-cut and simple. There can be no argument about it.

However, the Justice Department has not moved against Goldfine and probably will not move for some time. It has called a grand jury to cross-examine Baron Shacklette, former chief investigator for the Legislative Oversight Committee who was caught bugging the room of Goldfine's publicity man. But it is not likely to move soon on the man whom Sherman Adams described as the American success story—the man who climbed from immigrant boy to wealth the typical American way.

Rockefeller Avoids Nixon

NEW YORK — The political rivalry between Nelson Rockefeller and Vice-President Nixon is getting to be an even better story than the Battle of the Blintzes between billionaire Rockefeller and millionaire Averell Harriman.

That both Rockefeller and Governor Harriman were trying to get into position to run for the presidency has been an accepted fact. It also has been apparent in recent weeks that the vigorous Republican challenger from the oil empire created by his grandfather was giving the incumbent Democratic governor from the Union Pacific a hard run.

The pros are hedging their bets today on that contest. They feel Harriman will pull through because of the Democratic trend and because the Democratic organization is demonstrably stronger than the Republican. But it is obvious that the often-sullen silence of the voters is ominous for any incumbent officeholder strongly challenged by a fresh and articulate voice.

What politicians really talk about is the extent to which Rockefeller is disassociating himself from the acting head of the national Republican party. Rockefeller aides have admitted and tried to explain that it is a case of local necessity.

Their story is that to beat Harriman, Rockefeller must have the votes of independents and liberals for whom Nixon is a bad word. They stress that personally Rockefeller is glad to have Nixon's support for governor but that politically in this state at this time he has no alternative but to keep his distance.

This makes sense. Among many independents and liberals in this center of communications, which powerfully influences public opinion, Nixon is a bad word. If it is true that they have turned against Harriman because he failed to effect the nomination of former Air Force Secretary Tom Finletter for the Senate, Rockefeller would be foolish to embrace Nixon with any public fervor.

Still, Nixon is the Republican vice-president and he is calling the signals for the home stretch campaign of the GOP. And this was the situation as he neared New York City Wednesday evening for a full 24 hours.

No contact of any kind was scheduled between him and the Republican candidate for governor. Nixon was headed for the Waldorf-Astoria hotel with no formal engagements until he spoke at a dinner in Garden City, Long Island, in the evening for Rep. Kenneth Keating. Keating is the Republican nominee for the Senate against New York District Attorney Frank Hogan who wrested the Democratic nomination from Finletter.

☆ ☆ ☆

Rockefeller had a heavy morning scheduled Thursday upstate but he was to arrive here in the afternoon. His headquarters at the Roosevelt Hotel said he had but one appointment after that—an all-American committee dinner in the city.

It could be that as attention was directed toward this situation, the two men would remedy it but clearly the Rockefeller headquarters were not interested.

They have observed, too, that he has former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey strongly in his corner. Dewey is still the leader of his party in the state and its contact with the business sources of their campaign funds.

Columnist Maude Galusha writes that Ainsworth and other Sandhill ranchers have only one thing on their minds right now. "Cattle selling is what the rancher thinks, eats, and sleeps this time of year, until he's completely sold out on all he wants to sell." ..

Mrs. Elmer Lindell made Comstock News columns with her catfish catch that weighed over six pounds. Not only had she hooked the cat, but she had a loop of her line lassoed around its head, western style.

The Earl Hammond farm near Aurora has an unusual addition to its livestock ranks. The News-Register carried a picture of a three-day-old llama, along with its proud mother, and in the background, on the opposite side of the fence, was a donkey giving the two a very hostile eye.

The explanation: "As you can see, the Democrats are suspicious of everything these days since the scandal about Sherman Adams. The llama, a beast of burden in Peru, is a cousin of the vicuna." ..

The nine pupils who attend District 19 school at Plainview are getting their nature study first-hand, a little too first-hand, in fact. At one time a family of skunks took up abode under the school house. Classes went on, somewhat fragrantly, to be sure, but on schedule. However, when a swarm of angry bees invaded the building last week, everyone but the bees gave up. . .

Janis and David Smith of Brunswick have a very special interest in the park at Norfolk, for a good friend of theirs lives there now. . .

It all began last spring when the Smith family were boating on the Missouri near Niobrara. Here they discovered a little fawn tangled in the weeds, its head caught in the fork of a tree. The small animal was near death as they freed it and dried it off. They took it to their home in Brunswick and reported the happening to the game warden, who let them keep it for awhile. Bottle-fed, it soon became a great pet, sleeping at night on a rug beside the boy's bed. Waxed floors were more than it could negotiate, so a room was fixed in the basement. Later, it scampered around in a fenced-in yard and was housed in the barn. In August the Game Commission moved the fawn to the Norfolk park, where the youngsters have visited it several times.

Dick Vavrina is the answer to any harassed duck's prayer during this season of the year. He and his father, Casey, went hunting one afternoon and he settled in one blind while his father continued on to another. The ducks came in. The elder Vavrina waited. Nothing happened. The birds left. A second flock arrived, lit in front of the first blind. No gun shots. An investigation ensued. The youthful hunter was fast asleep.

A former Jackson boy has a souvenir that many an American lad would trade his best bat for. His father-in-law, a Chicago newsman covering the World Series, secured for him the ball which Hank Bauer, Yankee right fielder, hit over the fence for a home-run in the first game. It was autographed by 22 of the 25 players, including Bauer. The ball was slightly soiled after the drive out of the park. A local man who saw the game said that it "was really hit."

Vacation Boy

North Loup Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It has come to the point that the endorsement of Eisenhower, Nixon or Benson spells defeat. The fall elections will find many more states going Democratic, even New Hampshire. Nebraska will join the Democratic ranks. This Republican defeat will be due not only to Adams and vicuna coats, but to lack of leadership here and abroad. We thought we had elected a leader, but we got only an amateur golf player — a "vacation boy."

Heretofore we have lost boys in wars for a cause or principle. Now we lose them all over the world for no reason. How quiet they are about the captives in China. Give Mr. Dulles an umbrella and call him "Chamberlain."

A New Era

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Let there be widespread congratulations to Councilman Kenneth Lewis! His proposal that no new subdivisions be admitted without provisions for sidewalks on both sides of the street is one that should have been effected long ago.

Add to this a second provision — that a fixed percentage of each new subdivision's land be dedicated to park space — and Lincoln can begin a new era in growth characterized by wisdom and foresight.

A TAXPAYER

☆ ☆ ☆

Matching Funds

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Another dignitary has now entered his appearance in the melodramatic wheel tax escapade. This dignitary is none other than Mr. L. N. Ress, high boss over all of Nebraska's road-building operations. We certainly welcome and invite any and all comments relating to the wheel tax controversy.

According to the papers (not the comic section), Mr. Ress commented: "Lincoln could lose nearly $500,000 in federal money for city streets — and that after January 1, the money must then be re-offered to another city."

We may rest assured that not too many Nebraska municipalities will be in a financial position to accept this offer and have any money left for the necessary hamburgers, as "federal aid for street projects requires dollar-for-dollar matching." In other words, we are offered $500,000 if we will vote for the proposed wheel tax and kick in advance with $500,000 from the city car owners.

Obviously, we who dared to defy the communistics involved in sabotaging the referendum petitions are unable to make a similar offer of $500,000 in federal funds as an inducement to vote against the city car owners' tax.

LEO N. BARTUNEK

Editor's Note: It might also be said that we will lose $500,000 which we have already put up if the wheel tax fails. This federal matching money has been accumulated through the federal gasoline taxes that we all have already paid. If we don't use the money, it simply means that some other area is given the money we have paid in to the federal government. If we don't use the $500,000 federal money, it will not reduce taxes one cent. If some other Nebraska city does not use the money, it will then just revert to another state.

☆ ☆ ☆

Strong Points

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Nebraskan Fred Seaton, busy touring the country with all the other Republicans now in a campaign tour, listed what he considered three strong points for the GOP in their favor in appealing to the voters. If these are their strong points, the weak links in their political chain must be very frail, indeed. The President's expert handling of the international situation, the remarkable success of the United States in the rocket competition, and business prosperity!

Our own scientists, the men who know, say bluntly and without hesitation that we are still far behind the Soviet government in putting satellites into outer space, development of fuel, and other rocket know-how. Why try to fool ourselves on this score?

And the fact that unemployment figures are down a little is small consolation when one considers the huge number still vainly seeking jobs. It's just like trying to tell yourself that you're only $75 in debt now instead of $80. The big minus quantity completely wipes out the plus.

WONDERING

Leaf Problem

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Our whole neighborhood, along with the rest of the town, is hoping that the Council can work out a plan for gathering up the leaves this fall, as has been suggested. It would be one of the biggest services that city government could offer people. Even if the operation has its disadvantages and may not please everyone, if the bulk of the leaves could be taken away, it would be a tremendous help.

As is usual, some people rake and some don't. And when you get your own cleaned up, only to find the neighbors' have blown in on the first strong wind, it's a futile feeling. Maybe the offer of a free pick-up by the city would inspire these slackers to a little community effort.

Half-Time Pep Talk

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star:

Just keep it up, you Democrats, you've got 'em on the run;
But don't be too complacent till you know that you have won.
Remember when Tom Dewey made his most misguided guess,
And stayed at home composing his inaugural address?

And while he was preparing it, that little Harry Truman
Passed him so fast that Dewey thought the man was superhuman.
So take a leaf from Harry's book, and do not go astray
By resting on your laurels in the Thomas Dewey way.

Omaha Retired Teachers Housing Brings New Tax Procedure Query

Omaha (AP)—A second request for an attorney general's opinion on the legality of a tax reporting procedure has grown out of state Sen. Terry Carpenter's legislative tax study committee hearings in Omaha.

Carpenter asked the county assessor's office Thursday to request an opinion on whether the Omaha Education Assn. housing corporation's claim for exemption from taxation of the housing it provides for retired teachers.

He said the attorney general should rule on "the allowable limit of exempting these organizations."

At Wednesday's hearing Carpenter asked for an attorney general's opinion on whether corporations with their home offices in Nebraska must report cash on hand and accounts receivable which is held in other states.

The Scottsbluff senator also said the questioned whether it is correct for the Omaha Athletic Club to charge off $70,000 worth of linens, silverware and other items as prepaid expenses. "Assessments are based on valuation rather than on bookkeeping procedures," he said, contending the $70,000 should have been reported.

Conversely Carpenter said that possibly the Allied Mills, Inc., was being over taxed because its return included about $125,000 worth of grain which he felt should not have been reported.

Carpenter said the grain probably was taxed under the new grain handling assessment and double taxation resulted.

The hearings will recess for the week-end after Friday's session and will resume again Monday afternoon.

Early Nebraskan's Will Aids Sidney, Chappell Hospitals

Sidney, Neb. (AP)—A $5,000 bequest to Sidney's Cheyenne County Memorial Hospital and a $2,000 bequest to Miller Memorial Hospital in Chappell are contained in the will of a man who spent most of his adult life as a plant pathologist, in South America.

George L. Fawcett, 80, who died in Buenos Aires on Sept. 28, ordered that another $2,000 be given to Dunstan's Institution for the Blind in London.

Fawcett came to Cheyenne County with his parents in 1887 and spent his youth here.

Guard Attitudes To Foreigners; Teachers Told

Grace Gardner, a member of UNESCO's United States Commission, told 95 members of the Department of Classroom Teachers District No. 1 that, "as builders of peace we must look well to that with which we build—our attitudes."

She noted that the attitude a teacher takes to the subject being taught lasts longer in the minds of the students than the facts.

An instructor at the University of Missouri, Miss Gardner added, "for this reason it is important the teacher take a friendly attitude toward subjects involving foreign people."

She also pointed out that sometimes teachers find it too easy to teach about the better known countries and therefore students are lacking in knowledge of Asia and Latin American.

The teachers were also urged to place more emphasis on United Nations Day and Human Rights Day, as Miss Gardner said, "we must let the students know we're interested in getting along with others and that we believe in the dignity of man."

James Wall of Waverly, was elected assistant director of the district, during the business portion of the dinner meeting. Also elected were: Mary Livingston, Lincoln, secretary, and Mrs. Fern Westfall, Malcolm, treasurer.

Rickover, A-Sub Developer, Promoted By Ike

Washington (AP) — Rear Adm. Hyman Rickover, the controversial developer of the nuclear powered submarine, was promoted to vice admiral by President Eisenhower.

The appointment is to be effective while Rickover serves as head of the naval reactors branch of the Atomic Energy Commission. The promotion is subject to Senate approval after Congress returns.

The 58-year-old admiral has been something of a bone of contention between the White House and Democrats on Capitol Hill. Some members of Congress have said Rickover hasn't received the honors and recognition he should have had for his leadership in development of nuclear propulsion.

A loud outcry was raised when Rickover was not invited to a White House ceremony after the nuclear submarine Nautilus cruised from the Pacific to the Atlantic beneath the North Pole

Limited

At the time presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said invitations were limited to top Navy brass and there wasn't sufficient room for Rickover and some others.

Subsequently President Eisenhower named Rickover his personal representative at a gala welcome home for the Nautilus after the nuclear ship's history making North Pole voyage.

Rickover previously had been passed over twice by Navy selection boards when his name came up for higher rank.

Some Navy men said that under Navy procedure that could mean he would be forced to retire.

But, Eisenhower's naval aid, Capt. E. P. Aurand, answering questions denied that Rickover could have been forced out of the Navy if he didn't receive a promotion.

Same Position

Aurand said Rickover still is in the same position as any other officer of similar rank and must be approved by a retention board every 5 years. Otherwise he must retire. Aurand said Rickover's 5 year period ends within the next few months.

Aurand also said that the number of vice admirals is limited and that one position carrying the three star rank has gone out of existence. No one was demoted, Aurand said, to make Rickover's promotion possible.

In addition to serving as head of the naval reactors branch of AEC, Rickover also is assistant chief of the Navy Department's Bureau of Ships, for nuclear propulsion.

Baylor To Explain Student Exchange

John Baylor, Lincoln attorney, will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Zonta Club, 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Continental Cafe.

Baylor, who is regional representative for American Field Service International Scholarship, Inc., will talk on "Programming International Scholarships as a Service to the Local Community."

According to Baylor, since 1952, 30 Lincoln high school students have attended schools in Europe and lived with European families under the American Field Service exchange program. Since 1950, 24 students from 20 foreign countries have attended school in Lincoln.

Six Lincoln students are taking part in the exchange program this year.

Music Sororities Present Concert

The annual Inter-Sorority concert, presented by the 3 professional women's music sororities at the University of Nebraska, climaxed Inter-Sorority Week at the University Thursday.

The 3 sororities who participated in the annual event were Mu Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Iota and Delta Omicron.

The first part of the program included vocal numbers for women's voices, directed by Mrs. Myrna McClary of Alliance, Sue Rhodes of Beatrice and Paula Roehrkasse of Grand Island, all seniors at the University.

Mrs. McClary directed 6 love songs by Brahms. Miss Rhodes directed "I Hear A Harp," "Stille Nacht" and "Far and Wide," by Brahms. Miss Roehrkasse directed 3 selections from Tschaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

Other members of the 3 sororities presented selections, which included piano solos, a brass trio and a flute trio.

County's Legislative Candidates Stress Tax Issue As Topmost In State

By Virgil Falloon

The taxation issue was given top priority by five of Lincoln's six candidates for the Legislature, expressing their views Thursday before the Lincoln Council of Churches.

At its meeting, the Council's Christian Social Action division sought candidates' opinions on desirable legislation for schools, taxation, civil and human rights, and the bingo, juvenile court and board of control amendments, if passed.

Most gave the education issue second priority, but one candidate put it first.

Capsule views of the candidates:

Otto Liebers, 18th district incumbent: said he was "confident we can enforce the present tax assessment law. LB 80, the first legislation in 75 years for enforcement and penalties, needs a little mending, but will have the compelling forces so every property will carry its full share of the tax burden."

"We should look at other tax sources, but 83% of the property tax will remain and the system should be made to work," he added.

Don Devries, 20th district, endorsed Liebers' views but felt strongly that "the assessment of household goods should be repealed as constituting only 2% of the property tax but representing 85% of the collection cost.

On business inventories, Devries said that no legislative change is needed "if the tax commissioner is given the funds and power to police these inventories."

On education, he said, "school district reorganization must precede any state aid. A blanket formula would only compound state educational problems."

Fern Hubbard Orme, 20th district, favored a broadened tax base, but said "a sales tax should not be oppressive to low-income families and exemptions should be provided on any income tax for the lower incomes."

Mrs. Orme also suggested the need for a legislative committee to audit studies and state problems so that these studies "do not get lost."

Chris Kuhner, 18th district, labeled education the top issue in his opinion and said he would support legislation for "better teachers and better pay."

On taxation, he said the "state tax commissioner now has enough authority if he will use it."

Leo Bartunek, 19th district, said the No. 1 question is where to get taxes. He advocated "reaching for our needs to the multi-million dollar concerns—the state gas tax funds, Consumers Public Power District with its experimental atomic plant at Hallam, and the pari-mutuel betting in the state."

Stanley Portsche, 18th district incumbent, said the tax problem, schools and proposed Juvenile Court amendment were the top issues.

He favored an experienced and legally qualified juvenile judge, but would not increase the present number of district judges.

Delegates from various Lincoln churches attended the luncheon meeting chairmaned by Dr. Leroy T. Laase.

Rivalries Push Fund Up To 83%

The Community Chest Committee reported Thursday that 83% of its campaign goal of $598,802 has been reached.

At the 9th report luncheon a total of $494,970 had been turned in.

Rivalry among the 4 employe divisions was at a high pitch Thursday, when two employe division leaders again ate lunch with their hands tied to a bamboo pole as a reminder of the importance of teamwork in the campaign.

The two, Lee Berkheimer and Les Rau, were released for Friday's luncheon.

John Glynn, president of the All University Fund (AUF) at the University of Nebraska reported that 10% of what is collected during the AUF drive will be given to the Community Chest.

Employe Division

Reports of the 4 employe divisions Thursday were:

Industrial and Automotive, Lee Berkheimer, chairman: $1,676 for a total to date of $51,458 or 79% of a goal of $65,500.

Business and Professional, Charles Thorne, chairman: $3,450 for a total to date of $64,389 or 88% of a $73,550 goal.

Foods and Services, Les Rau, chairman: $1,497 for a total to date of $22,799 or 73% of a goal of $31,250.

Public Departments, Fred Herrington, chairman: $4,466 for a total to date of $65,108 or 86% of a $75,800 goal.

School Division

The School children of Lincoln have turned in $1,474 dollars to the Public Departments division.

Lloyd J. Marti, chairman of the Advance Gifts division, reported $14,282 today, for a division total of $277,101 or 82% of a $336,600 goal.

Women's division workers turned in $550 to Mrs. Carl A. Donaldson, chairman, bringing their total to date to $13,783 or 83% of a goal of $16,600.

The Rev. Thomas C. Dick of Plymouth Congregational Church gave the invocation for the noon meeting.

Robert Metcalf, lieutenant general of the Professional section, has achieved his goal. Two more colonels have also reached their goals. They are Henry Reifschneider, Retail Groceries, Meats and Fruits, and Mrs. Arthur C. George, Women's division.

Additional fims and organizations reaching or exceeding their goals are:

Addressograph Multigraph Co., Assenmacher Construction Co., Blue Joynt Realty, Commerce Investment Co., Dingwell Auto Sales, Fiene Real Estate, Gooch Food Products, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., J. Heidenreich Radio Service, Hompes Tire Co., KOLN-TV, Kramer Real Estate.

Lower Meat Rail Rates To Be Pushed

A "voluminous" exhibit is being prepared by the State Railway Commission for presentation during Interstate Commerce hearings on proposals to lower rail rates in fresh meat shipments consigned from Nebraska to eastern and western points.

The commission said the hearings, slated for Oct. 28 in Denver, would re-open a one year old case.

On Aug. 15 of last year, the ICC granted the railroads authority to reduce the difference on their rates from eastern Iowa points to west coast destinations 4c per hundredweight as compared to west bound consignments from Nebraska.

Formerly, eastern Iowa shippers paid 25c more than Nebraska shippers on consignments for west coast destinations.

That is, an eastern Iowa meat packer would pay 4c per hundredweight more than an Omaha packer consigning fresh meat to west coast destinations.

However, on eastbound consignments, a Nebraska shipper would pay 64c a hundredweight more than an eastern Iowa shipper.

The railroads won this authority to meet motor transportation competition.

The railway commission will ask the ICC to establish a more "reasonable" rate relationsip.

The ICC ruling allowed a Davenport, Iowa, meat packer to reduce shipping rates from $3.32 per hundredweight to $2.55 per hundredweight on west bound shipments.

The same ICC authorization allowed an Omaha packer to reduce rates on shipping his product west from $3.07 per hundredweight to $2.51.

Following the Denver hearings, the commission will appear Nov. 20 before the ICC in Washington on the same matter.

Red Paper Folds

Narvik, Norway (AP) — One of Norway's two remaining Communist papers is folding up Nov. 1. The announcement said Narvik's Nordlands Arbeiderblad had run out of funds and prospects. That leaves only Friheten of Oslo, with a daily circulation reported at 7,000.

Practice Makes Perfect

Rutland, Vt. (UPI) — After narrowly losing a golf tournament, Joe Fournier decided to do some extra practicing. He promptly shot two holes-in-one on the same day.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

Here is a bit of news that fits the print: Miss Barbara Rush is an actress. When people ring her up in the morning, she writes her memos on the wall of the breakfast nook.

Does she write with a ballpoint? No, dear hearts. She writes with grape juice.

"Prune juice isn't bad," Miss Rush is quoted. "But orange juice is impossible."

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, here is a thoughtful piece of information. And I think that most of the thought was done by Miss Barbara's press agent. Press agents are something like vodka—they leave you breathless.

This juicy story was plastered in the pages of many journals and is a triumph for the publicist. The public relations counselor has a curious war on his hands: He is constantly trying to get things in the paper; the editors are constantly trying to keep it out.

It keeps everybody pepped up. It is better for you than vitamins.

☆ ☆ ☆

Sometimes the press agent tries to keep unfavorable publicity OUT of the papers. Then the editors scream and holler and threaten him.

Irving Hoffman, the dashing young man of Broadway, once had a number of wealthy but dull clients.

"Most of these people," said Irving, "couldn't get their names in the obituary column even if they were playing the lead."

One of his clients was Hope Hampton. Irving got her a fair amount of space as a cafe society personage. But came a day when the gendarmes were called to her apartment.

On the carpet was a gentleman, slightly punctured in the neck by a pistol bullet.

"How did it happen, Irving?" said the reporters.

The gentleman is a sportsman," said Irving sportingly. "He was cleaning his gun."

"In that case," said the press, "how does it happen he is wounded in the BACK of the neck?"

Mr. Hoffman thought swiftly. "He was cleaning it over his shoulder in a mirror," he said.

☆ ☆ ☆

Mr. Mack Miller is the press spokesman for Bob Hope. But in early Broadway days he handled certain nightclubs owned by Dutch Schultz bootlegger and clay pigeon for many a shotgun blast.

It racked back his nerves considerably.

"The Dutchman always wanted to go to the baseball games on Saturday," said Mack. "He was thoughtful about it though. 'Don't worry,' he said, 'The car is bullet proof.'"

One day the shotgun boys caught the Dutchman without his armor. A crude-looking associate called on Mr. Millar. Mr. Schultz was in the hospital.

"The Dutchman wants blood," he said.

"How much blood?" asked Mr. Millar faintly.

The gangster gave Millar an appraising look.

"About a half a case," he said. "Make it six fifths."

That is why Mr. Millar is now in Hollywood.

☆ ☆ ☆

Sam Wall, the Hollywood bannerman, invented a starlet. He called her Abby Rentz. (There is a rental organization called Abbey Rents—the flash came to Mr. Wall as he was gazing out a window at one of their billboards.)

By coincidence, starlet Abby went only to restaurants owned by Mr. Wall's valued clients.

Poor Abby came to her end when a columnist discovered she was imaginary.

"Abby Rentz, starlet, was killed in an auto accident last night," he wrote.

Wrote it in prune juice most likely.

With The United Nations:

ON MY OWN

By Eleanor Roosevelt

(This is the fifth of a series of twelve articles based on the book "On My Own—The Years Since the White House" by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, published by Harper & Brothers, New York.)

While I was living on Washington Square, New York, in December of 1945 I received a message from President Truman. He reminded me that the first organizing meeting of the United Nations General Assembly would be held in London, starting in January, 1946, and he asked me if I would serve as a member of the United States delegation.

I crossed on the Queen Elizabeth and people were very kind to me, but nevertheless I felt much alone at first. One day, as I was walking down the passageway to my cabin, I encountered Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, a Republican and before the war a great champion of isolationism. He stopped me.

"Mrs. Roosevelt," he said in his rather deep voice, "we would like to know if you would serve on Committee Three." I suddenly realized that I had no more idea than the man in the moon what Committee Three might be. So I kept my thoughts to myself and humbly agreed to serve where I was asked to serve.

"But," I added quickly, "will you or someone kindly see that I get as much information as possible on Committee Three?"

Mrs. Roosevelt

The Senator promised and I went on to my cabin.

As I learned more about my work I realized why I had been put on Committee Three which dealt with humanitarian, educational and cultural questions. There were many committees dealing with the budgetary, legal, political and other questions, and I could just see the gentlemen of our delegation puzzling over the list and saying:

"Oh, no! We can't put Mrs. Roosevelt on the political committee. What could she do on the budget committee! Does she know anything about legal questions? Ah, here's the safe spot for her—Committee Three. She can't do much harm there!"

Oddly enough, I felt very much the same way about it. It was while working on Committee Three that I really began to understand the inner workings of the United Nations. It was ironical perhaps that one of the subjects that created the greatest political heat of the London sessions came up in this "unimportant" committee to which I had been assigned.

The Refugee Problem

The issue, which I have already referred to, arose from the fact that there were many displaced war refugees in Germany when the armistice was signed — Ukrainians, Byelorussians, Poles, Czechoslovaks, Latvians, Lithuanians, Estonians, and others—a great number of whom were still living there in temporary camps because they did not want to return to live under the Communist rule of their own countries. There also were the pitiful Jewish survivors of the German death camps.

The Communists wanted these refugees forcibly returned to their countries of origin. The Western nations wanted these people empowered to choose whether or not to return to their homes.

Vishinsky For The Prosecution

Vishinsky was one of the Russians' great legal minds, a skilled debater, a man with ability to use the weapons of wit and ridicule. And Moscow apparently considered the refugee question of such vital importance that he spoke twice before the Assembly in a determined effort to win over the delegates to the Communist point of view. The British representative on our committee spoke in favor of the majority report. By this time an odd situation had developed. It was apparent that in view of the importance of the issue some one would have to speak for the United States. The question of who this was to be threw our delegation into a veritable dither. There was a hurried and rather uncomfortable consultation among the male members and when the huddle broke up John Foster Dulles approached me rather uncertainly.

"Mrs. Roosevelt," he began, rather lamely, "the United States must speak in the debate. Since you are the one who has carried on for us in this controversy in the committee, do you think you could say a few words to the Assembly? I'm afraid nobody else is really familiar with the subject."

Stage Fright

Actually, I was badly frightened. I trembled at the thought of speaking against the famous Mr. Vishinsky. But when the time came I walked, tense and excited, to the rostrum and did my best. There was a little more than met the eye in this situation. The hour was late and we knew the Russians would delay a vote as long as possible on the theory that some of our allies would get tired and leave. I knew we must, if possible, hold our South American colleagues until the vote was taken because their votes might be decisive. So I talked about Simon Bolivar and his stand for the freedom of the people of Latin America. I talked and I watched the delegates, and to my joy the South American representatives stayed with us to the end and, when the vote came, we won.

Toward the end of the sessions we worked until late at night. The final night the vote on Committee Three's report was taken so late that I did not get back to the hotel until about 1 o'clock. I was very tired, and as I walked wearily up the stairs at the hotel I heard two voices behind me. Turning around, I saw Sen. Vandenberg and Mr. Dulles. They obviously had something to say to me, but for the life of me I can't recall which one of them said it. Whichever it was, he seemed to be speaking for both.

A Bouquet

"Mrs. Roosevelt," he said, "we must tell you that we did all we could to keep you off the United States delegation. We begged the President not to nominate you. But now that you are leaving we feel we must acknowledge that we have worked with you gladly and found you good to work with. And we will be happy to do so again."

German Teachers Meeting At NU

The annual meeting of the Mountain-Plains chapter of the American Assn. of Teachers of German will be held Friday and Saturday at the University of Nebraska.

The association is composed of college and high school teachers from Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota.

The meeting will open with an informal session Friday evening at the University Faculty Club. Papers will be read Saturday beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Student Union.

Featuring the meeting will be a panel discussion: "Is There an Adequate Supply of Teachers of German?" Among those reading papers will be Margaret Dolezal of Lincoln Northeast High School; Dr. John Winkelmann of the University of Nebraska; and Dr. Don Allison of the University of Nebraska.

Chapter president is Alexander Hartman of University of South Dakota and secretary, R. B. O'Connell of University of South Dakota.

U.S. Pilot Hailed

Wethersfield Air Base, England (UPI) — Villagers of nearby little Maplestead joined in hailing U.S. Air Force pilot Maj. Douglas Stewart, of Gladstone, Mich., for risking death in a crippled plane to save their homes.

Stewart maneuvered his T-33 jet trainer under high tension wires and pancaked it into a field after its engine flamed out, avoiding the village's 900-year-old church and its cluster of homes.

Rate Experts Rights Need 'Clarification'

The chairman of the State Railway Commission said he favored clarification of the rights of rate experts representing clients before the commission.

"Clarification concerning the question of the rights of rate men to represent their employers before the Railway Commission on rate matters would be of benefit to those who appear before the commission," Richard Larson said.

Larson made the comment in regard to suggestions from various quarters that rate experts be allowed to practice before the commission according to the same regulations allowing them to appear before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Sit As Examiner

The commission's own rate expert may sit as an examiner on rate matters and make recommendations.

However, under present rules, he cannot interrogate witnesses when members of the commission are conducting a hearing.

Rules governing commission procedure stipulate that a rate expert representing an employer must bring along an attorney who can interrogate him concerning his client's case.

ICC rules allow rate experts, who have passed a qualifying examination, to testify and interrogate witnesses.

State Railway Commission rules allow a rate expert representing himself to testify, but not if he represents a client.

Speculation has centered on the possibility of some group requesting the 1959 Legislature to consider permissive legislation allowing rate experts the same rights they enjoy under ICC regulations.

Wheel Tax Ad. #1

Dear Madam:

We've heard that Omahans call Lincoln the "Holy City"
Well, there certainly is something a little EXTRA FINE about people who—

for the sake of the principle of FAIR PLAY

★ Secured the repeal of an ordinance giving them street improvements they wanted and needed.

★ Risked delaying several years an important part of the street improvement program so that the people could exercise their right to vote.

NOW let's not SPOIL everything by holding grievances

A NEW ORDINANCE MUST BE PASSED NOW

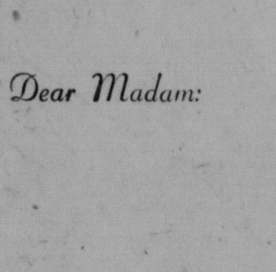
Members of a Citizens Street Improvement Committee have drawn up the ordinance you will vote on Nov. 4. They had the help of a competent lawyer. Some of their ideas are listed below:

Meet "Jal" Meet "Opy"



"Jal" and "Opy" say: Vote For the NEW Wheel Tax Ordinance

CITIZENS ORDINANCE

★ This new ordinance fixes the amounts paid by different types of vehicles based on weight; $4 for private cars and graduated up to $20 for heaviest trucks.

★ The new ordinance DESIGNATES THE USE to which the money raised can be used.

★ The new ordinance provides penalties to insure that its provisions will be carried out as the people desire.

WE MUST MATCH $500,000 IN FEDERAL FUNDS SOON OR LOSE THEM

Lincoln received a warning from State Engineer L. N. Ress that it could lose nearly $500,000 of federal matching funds for city streets unless by Jan. 1, 1959 it indicates to the State that the funds can be matched by city funds.

The State matching ratio is $1 for $1 on most projects but on those related to the Interstate Highway system $1 of State money triggers $9 of federal funds. The proposed wheel tax is critical to the whole street improvement program.

A FUN WORLD, NEWSWISE

—What a morning for news! And the fun part of it all is the variety. There are guests and guest courtesies —there is a new Beta Theta Pi legacy to mention—there are travelers—There is news from the away-at-school crowd—and on and on.

* * *

—perhaps we should begin with the guest who has been the incentive for numerous parties. She is Mrs. Don Clark of Hamilton, Ont. Canada, and she is the house guest this week of Mrs. Charles Ammon. Mrs. Ammon and Mrs. Clark met when they both were on a trip from Winnipeg to Churchill (on Hudson Bay), and they have spent some time together occasionally ever since the 1952 journey.

The parties began almost at the time of Mrs. Clark's arrival last week end, and have kept a steady pace ever since. Last evening Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Ammon were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hoppe, and today Mrs. Clark will be honored when Mrs. William Ammon is a foursome luncheon and bridge hostess at the Lincoln Country Club.

Complimenting Mrs. Clark on Saturday will be Mrs. William Stoner who has invited guests for luncheon at the University Club.

Among other hostesses who entertained for Mrs. Clark since her arrival in Lincoln is Mrs. H. E. McArthur who entertained at luncheon at her home.

And as a courtesy to her house guest Mrs. Ammon was a luncheon hostess at the Lincoln Country Club.

* * *

—before we mention guests who will be in town for the Homecoming game we want to introduce Robert John Kasmarek, Jr., five months-old, who arrived on Wednesday at the home of his new parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Kasmarek in Janesville, Wis.

Mrs. Kasmarek is the former Halcyon Coble—Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska where Mr. Kasmarek is a Beta Theta Pi. The doting grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Coble of Lincoln.

* * *

—now for the Homecoming game week end and guests who will be spending the game week end in Lincoln.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Clive Hilgert and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ebel of Kansas City will be the game and week end guests of Mrs. Hilgert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cather.

Mr. and Mrs. Cather will entertain their guests at a pre-game luncheon at their home, and also have planned a postgame dinner.

—there are travelers galore this week end, but not all of them are going to Colorado. We learned, for instance, that Mrs. Morgan Batten, Jr., and her three sons, Trip, Bing and Hoppy, will leave today for a week end with friends in Kansas City. Mr. Morgan, if possible, will join his family there on Saturday.

But back to Trip, Bing and Hoppy for just a moment—We thought you might be interested in learning that behind the nicknames are Holland Morgan Batten, III; Reginald Woodruff Batten, and Foster Ives Batten.

* * *

—speaking of sons reminds us that this is Father and Son week end at the Red Deer Hunting Grounds—Perhaps the Colorado game interfered a bit, but we hear that among the fathers and sons who will be on hand are Joe W. Seacrest and his son, Jim; Richard O. Joyce and son Michael; Robert Guenzel and his son Bob, Jr., and Joe R. Seacrest and his son, Eric.

And also on the list of travelers this week end are Mr. and Mrs. Julian Lyons who will leave on Saturday for Denver, Colo., where Mr. Lyons will attend a meeting of the executive board of the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods.

* * *

—Understand that Miss Alice Abel will be hostess at a dinner party for 10 at the Nixon dinner on Saturday evening when she pays postnuptial courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Desmond, Jr. (Sally Skutt). The guest list will include, in addition to the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fraizer, Mr. and Mrs. William Seiboldt, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. (Ky) Rohman.

* * *

—on the more or less routine agenda, says our calendar, is the Junior League executive board meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. William L. Beachley.

And on Tuesday evening, Nov. 4, of course, is the usual first - Tuesday - in-the-month meeting day for the Junior League.

Mid-October Bride

MRS. GEORGE W. FRISBIE

The marriage of Miss Janice Marie Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percly Hunt of Grand Forks, N.Dak., to George W. Frisbie, son of Mrs. Blanche Frisbie of Lincoln, took place at St. Michael's Church in Grand Forks on Saturday morning, Oct. 11. The Msgr. William McNamee Dorsher celebrated the Nuptial Mass, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Kenneth Dorsher.

The attendants, Miss Anne Riski, Miss Yvonne Dixon and Miss Stephanie Kay Hunt, wore alike frocks of pale orchid chiffon and carried bouquets of white and orchid pom poms. Beth Marie Naasted was the flower girl.

Kenneth L. Hunt served as best man, and seating the guests were Derwood Gurlach, Richard Block, Robert Hunt and Anthony Michalecki. Alan Geatz carried the rings.

The bride appeared in a gown of white lace and net over taffeta. The long-sleeved bodice was designed with a sabrina neckline, and the bouffant skirt extended into a brief train. Her shoulder-length veil was held to the head with a sequins half-hat and she carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Frisbie and his bride will reside in Grand Forks.

GFWC Annual Contest

The General Federation of Women's Clubs again this year will sponsor its Community Achievement contest in cooperation with the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, which offers cash awards to the clubs making the greatest contribution to their communities.

Last year, more than 5,500 clubs entered the contest and as many as 7,500 are expected to participate this year.

A first prize of $10,000 will be awarded to the winning club of the federation, whose organizations in the past have sponsored community projects ranging from aid to hospitals and schools to clean-up campaigns, symphony orchestras, recreation centers and the formation of community councils.

Nov. 14, 1959 is the deadline date for submitting entry blanks, and reports on projects must be in by March 1, 1960, for the current contest of 1958-60.

PTA's Meet

The members of Willard PTA met Friday evening and voted to arrange bus transportation for the pupils to visit the University of Nebraska Planetarium.

The group also voted $50 to purchase books for the school library as a Christmas gift. Mrs. Leroy Cosier presided at the meeting during which plans were made for a jitney lunch on Nov. 21, with Mrs. Martin Meyer, Jr., as chairman.

At the close of the evening, the fathers were hosts for the social hour with Mr. Meyer, Robert Eddens and Al Stromer in charge of arrangements.

A talk on the proposed juvenile court amendment was given by Miss Sarah Cunningham, law student at the University of Nebraska, at the Friday evening meeting of West Lincoln, District 126, PTA.

During the meeting, the members made plans for a Hallowe'en party for the children, to be held Friday evening, Oct. 31, at the school. The party will follow a jitney supper for the families at the school.

Dear Abby . . .

He's Growing Up, Mom!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our only child turned twenty and we bought him a secondhand car. He pays the upkeep with the money he earns working after school (college) and week-ends. We raised him up to be clean and decent, mannerly and quiet. His friends are the ones he grew up with and they are all respectable. Our problem: His father found a blanket in the trunk of his car. You could tell by looking at it that it had been out in the woods. It was full of leaves and moss. I can't sleep nights for imagination running loose. Do you think his father ought to question him to find out what he's been up to? HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If you've raised your son to be wholesome, decent and particular in his choice of companions, don't worry. A lad who's down to earth is usually up to nothing serious.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My problem (and I'll bet a lot of other people's problem) is the thoughtless women who are found in every supermarket! Why do these women leave their grocery carts right in the middle of the aisle while they wander off somewhere to look for groceries? Don't they realize that they are jamming up traffic? With very little effort, if they "parked" their grocery carts on the side, others could pass by. And don't forget the mothers who turn their little ones loose to "race" carts all over the store as if they were in a Playland Park. Hoping some offenders will read this. "HOUSTON"

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: In my bedroom I have posters from various activities of our school and several pictures of friends on my wall. Everyone says it is a clever way to decorate a girl's room, but my mother says I can't put any more things up. It's my room and I'm the one who has to live in it. It is all neatly done and I am not hurting the walls any. I think this is the way a girl expresses her personality like a boy fixes his car up to express his. I keep my room clean and my drawers and closets neat so I think I should be able to decorate it as I please. Am I right?

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD

DEAR SIXTEEN: If you keep your room clean, and your drawers and closets neat, and the decorations positively do not damage the walls, I see no reason why you shouldn't be able to decorate it with your posters and pictures.

DEAR ABBY: Why do men take you out, tell you they had a wonderful evening, take down your telephone number, promise to call you and then you never hear from them again? If you happen to like the man especially, it is terrible to have your hopes built up and then wait week after week for him to call, only to realize he never intended to. What does a girl do in a case like that? FORGOTTEN

DEAR FORGOTTEN: If a man takes your number and leads you to believe that he will call—and you don't hear from him again, be grateful. You've got HIS number. A man who doesn't keep his promises is better off out of sight.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope

Annual Smorgasbord At Milford

The Milford Woman's Club entertained at its annual smorgasbord supper Thursday evening at the Masonic Temple in Milford. Planned to raise funds for the club's many community projects, the supper last year proved so popular with the residents of neighboring towns as well as Milford, that the club was able to provide a cement recreation slab for the town park.

Mrs. G. A. Dunlap served as general chairman assisted by finance commitee members, Mrs. Gene Harder, Mrs. Elton Havener and Mrs. E. J. Horner.

Preparing the smorgasbord table are (from the left) Mrs. Warren Rediger, Mrs. Robert Eicher, Mrs. Glenn Weaver, Mrs. Kenneth Dahle, Mrs. Richard Stauffer, Mrs. Carl Trabert, Mrs. Jack Rediger, Mrs. Richard Willard, Mrs. Dunlap, Mrs. Havener and Mrs. Horner.

There's Always Good News In Suburbia

It is our pleasure to introduce this Friday morning a new suburb, Hollingsworth Heights. But our spotlight also touches on Prairie Valley and Fiene Heights residents; and we have birthday parties, vacations, and house guests to note and new residents to introduce.

HOLLINGSWORTH HEIGHTS

We're not only rolling out the welcome mat this morning for a new suburb but also for two new families in the suburb.

Settling down in their new home at 4200 Neville Ave. are Mr. and Mrs. Ed L. Felton and their three children, Verne, 13; John, 10, and Kathleen, 9. The Felton family has moved to Hollingsworth Heights from Davenport, Ia.

A warm welcome also is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Engelbart and their 2-year-old daughter, Marilyn, who have moved into their new home at 2731 Anderson Dr. Their former address was 2228 So. 16th St.

PRAIRIE VALLEY

Recently returning to Prairie Valley from a month's stay in California was Mrs. Zillah Eden. Mrs. Eden was the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Alsberge in Glendale. During Mrs. Eden's visit, Dr. and Mrs. Alsberge celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

Turning now to news of house guests we learn that Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkinson and their family of Deming, N.M., visited Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Morrison during the week end.

And then we heard that Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mason will be a week end host and hostess when they entertain their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Curtis of Ainsworth.

FIENE HEIGHTS

Celebrating his 11th birthday Tuesday afternoon was George Witt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Witt. George's classmates joining the fun were Roger Yant, Mike Swanson, Al Soshmik, David Pardee, Alan Sasse, Tom Jones, Mike Seaberg, and Dick Salem.

University students aren't the only persons who will be migrating to Boulder, Colo., this week end for we have news that Harry VonDane, Bud Yant, and Bud Colborn are leaving on a special after-midnight train tonight for the Colorado - Nebraska game. They will return to Fiene Heights on Sunday.

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Seaberg and their son, Mike, left Lincoln Wednesday afternoon for Enid, Okla., where they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Seaberg's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Seaberg.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

PAT

BY PAT MELBY
Of Pius X High School

Homecoming brought victory for Pius X Friday night, with a score of 26-0 over St. Bon's of Columbus. Reigning as King and Queen for the night, were Sid Maynard and Mary Lee Hendry, with Mary Ahlgrim and Gary Brouliette serving as the attendants. Last year's queen, Donna Breitfelder, and attendant, Carol Zajic took care of the crowning ceremonies at halftime.

Pius is on guard for this week's game with Heelan High of Sioux City, Ia., which may prove to be a real "toughie." We hope that all of our boys who have not been able to play on account of the "flu" will be back on their feet by Friday and ready to chalk up another big win. Speaking of casualties, everyone at Pius is anxious to see Mark Hackenkamp, who suffered a broken leg in the Holy Name game, back in school pretty quick!

Switching to the international news concerning Pius, four girls, including Mary Nevels, Cay Curran, Mary Shugrue, and Ellen McGovern, attended a mock-United Nations meeting last Friday afternoon at Duchesne College in Omaha. Along with many other schools of Omaha and nearby towns, which represented countries in the United Nations, Pius was chosen to send delegates representing India. From reports given in American Problems classes, it sounds like all the preparation for the meeting was well worth it.

This year has marked the beginning of many new activities at Pius, but this particular one has started quite a bit of talk, and perhaps caused some laughter among the masculine gender—it's a girls basketball team! And what's wrong with that??? We girls suppose that the newness of our basketball team at Pius will cause somewhat of a riot for awile, but we are hoping that the boys will get used to it soon. The team, which will consist of sophomores, juniors, and seniors will be listed as Class B in the "Rover Basketball" City League.

Coming up on November 1 is the annual Junior Red Cross Round-Up, which will be held at Pius X this year. Registration will be on Saturday morning from 8:30 to 9:00. All students from high schools in Lincoln and surrounding towns are invited to attend the Round-Up, so be sure and keep that date open!

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. IN GOVERNING ATHLETICS

Prep Pilots Seek Power

By Ron Speer

Nebraska coaches want a louder voice in the governing of high school athletics in the state.

"If we want to get anything done we've got to put some teeth in our organization," said one of the 80 coaches who attended a Lincoln meeting of the District 1 Coaches Association.

In an effort to get the group on a more solid foundation, the coaches voted for two measures which will be recommended to the State Coaches Association.

The prep mentors recommended that the State Association hire a permanent secretary to improve communication between members and to keep the association functioning steadily from year to year.

Strasheim

They also recommended that the State Association sponsor the high school coaches' clinic.

Three Lincoln coaches—Harold Scott, Lincoln High track boss, Bun Galloway, Northeast administrator and former football coach, and Dale Snook, University High basketball coach, led the drive for a coaching clinic sponsored by the State Coaches Association.

"I feel now that when I attend a coaching clinic with a college coach giving the lecture I'm wasting my time," Snook said. "That's all we have been getting lately, and college coaches often don't get down to the high school level which is what we're after.

"I would like to see the Coaches Association sponsor the clinic and invite some top high school coaches as the featured speakers. I think all of us would get more out of it," Snook added.

Art Bauer, outgoing District 1 president, read a letter at the meeting from Warren Brown of Scottsbluff, state president.

Brown wrote that the "Coaches Association needs professional leadership and interest. . . to achieve any voice in the state concerning high school athletics. . . which we do not have now and won't until we gain more strength and more members."

Don Strasheim, assistant NU football coach, spoke to the group and stressed the importance of scholarship to incoming freshman footballers.

"We need your help," he said. "The boys must learn how to study in high school, or they will be in for a tough time as freshmen in college where they have to play football and concentrate on the studies."

New officers elected for 1959 are Darrel Genzslinger of Beatrice, president; Fred Winters of Pawnee City, vice-president, and Dave Hagemoser of Waverly, secretary-treasurer.

Wayne Harriers Win Triangular

Merle McGee of Wayne toured the 3-mile Pioneers course in 15:49 to take first place. The top 10 finishers:

1—Merle McGee, Wayne, 15:49; 2—Brings, USD; 3—Weitzenkamp, Wayne; 4—Art Frieberg, Wesleyan; 5—Young, Wayne; 6—Terry Sapp, Wesleyan; 7—Kruse, Wayne; 8—Habler, USD; 9—Warren Woods, Wesleyan; 10—Ken Metzger, Wesleyan.

Nation's No. Ten Club Falls

Columbia, S.C. (AP) — South Carolina smashed 10th nationally ranked Clemson's visions of an undefeated season here Thursday with hard-nosed control football, grinding out a 26-6 victory.

A record State Fair holiday crowd of 46,000 overflowed the stadium as the teams traded second period touchdowns. The bright sunshine and the 80-degree temperatures failed to stop South Carolina's second half Atlantic Coast Conference upset.

Clemson may have indefinitely lost its ace quarterback Harvey White, who suffered a painful shoulder injury late in the game. He scored Clemson's touchdown from the 3-yard line.

South Carolina moved 100 yards to tie it up, fullback John Saunders diving over from the one.

South Carolina began moving into its first State Fair victory in 4 years and the first for Coach Warren Giese, by opening the second half with a 90-yard touchdown drive. Quarterback Bobby Bunch raced wide to the left for 3 yards and the score.

Two 4th period touchdowns on drives of 43 and 79 yards put the icing on the Gamecock victory cake. Halfback King Dixon plunged one yard for one of the scores and halfback Alex Hawkins sliced over from the two for the other.

Hawkins scored the game's only conversion when he raced over after the second South Carolina touchdown.

Wake Forest replaced Clemson as ACC leader with a 2-0 record against Clemson's 3-1.

Penalties played a prominent part in the early part of the game. Clemson moved the ball well up to midfield and had an apparent first down when an offside penalty forced the Tigers to punt.

But a penalty helped Clemson to its touchdown. After a weak South Carolina kick gave Clemson the ball at midfield the Tigers apparently were stopped at the Gamecock 30 when a piling on penalty gave Clemson the ball at the 15.

Fullback Doug Cline ran for 3 and 5 yards and White made 4 before scoring. White's two-point conversion pass try was smothered.

DESPITE BAN BY BRAVES

Conley OKs Celtic Pact

Boston (AP) — Towering Gene Conley, disappointed by his 1958 season as a Milwaukee Braves baseball pitcher, Thursday signed a Boston Celtics basketball contract after 5 years absence from the sport.

After the 6-8 athlete signed for an undisclosed amount, Coach Red Auerbach said "Gene can make the difference on this team."

Conley said in answer to questions he knows nothing of comment from Braves General Manager John Quinn that playing with the Celtics would be contrary to the wishes of the club and in violation of his baseball contract.

"No," was Conley's terse reply when asked if he had heard in any way from the Milwaukee management during his tryout with the Celtics the past few weeks.

"I'm certainly not going to make an issue out of it," he added.

Auerbach said Conley would be in the lineup when the Celtics open their National Basketball Assn. campaign Saturday night at New York against the Knicks.

Conley, who can jump higher from a standing position than can the fabulous 6-10 Bill Russell, has been jumping center and tapping the ball to big Bill in exhibitions. If it works the way it has been, the Celtics have a potent new weapon in setting up their plays.

Conley has shown great potential to date and in the words of backcourt-forecourt ace Frank Ramsey: "If Gene wants to, he can be the best ball player on our club."

He has averaged 10 points a game in his exhibition appearances and has looked good as a rebounder.

Conley insists he plans to continue baseball but admits he is unhappy with his 0-6 record as a Braves right-handed pitcher this past season. He was hampered by a sore arm.

In 6 major league baseball campaigns, Conley has a 42-43 mark.

Gene hasn't played basketball since he turned in 30 games for the Celts back in 1952-53 and collected 171 rebounds.

No Party Line Now

San Francisco (AP) — Special precautions are being taken so there can be no monitoring of rival telephone lines when the Chicago Bears play the San Francisco 49ers here Sunday.

After the Bears beat the Rams 31-10 in Chicago last Sunday, a Los Angeles spotter said he believed someone connected with the Bears was listening in on his conversations to the bench.

To prevent any listening in by any unauthorized persons, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., will keep a constant check, Art Wittemore, Kezar Stadium superintendent, said Thursday.

He added, however, he was sure Chicago Coach George Halas wouldn't monitor a rival's conversation.

"The Park and Recreation Department did not request special checks, but a man from the telephone company called and said they would have someone standing by the lines from 6 a.m. Sunday on," Wittemore said.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

This corner fared much better than anticipated last Saturday night when the upset reports started filtering into Syracuse, N. Y.

After hearing what Northwestern did to Michigan, Tulane did to Navy, etc., I figured the cause was lost. But the Point Blank crystal ball wound up with 33 for 47 and a .702 percentage.

The season mark is 150 for 222 and .675. With this incentive—and it isn't much, I'll grant— here we go again:

Boy, 11, Buried In Grid Uniform

Stockton, Calif. (AP)—An 11-year-old boy went to his grave this week clad in a San Francisco 49er football uniform, with a football tucked under his arm.

The last days of the boy—ill all of his short life with a rare blood disease—were brightened by his adulation of the pro football team and its star end, Billy Wilson.

The little boy's name was Michael Ng. (Ng, a common Chinese name, is pronounced "Ing.")

It wasn't until the boy's funeral that Stockton really learned about Michael. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ng, saw that he was buried in a setting he loved.

In addition to the uniform he wore — bearing Wilson's number 84—and the football under his arm, floral pieces carried out the gridiron theme . . . helmets, goal posts and the like.

The Rev. Wilbur W. Choy of St Mark's Methodist Church, noted in his service.

"Michael came into the game of life on 4th down, with not only 10 yards to go for first down, but a 15-yard penalty as well.

"Yet he always was in there trying, even though the odds were against him."

Birdie Gets More Power

Milwaukee (AP)—Birdie Tebbetts, the Milwaukee Braves' newly hired executive vice president, emerged Thursday as heir apparent to the presidency of the multi-million-dollar baseball empire.

President Joe Cairnes left no doubt that the ex-Cincinnati Redlegs' manager would be in full charge of the organization while Cairnes is in Florida overseeing a 500-million-dollar housing project for Braves' owner Lou Perini.

Cairnes told a press luncheon at which Tebbetts was introduced that he Cairnes would be devoting more and more time to the construction business and "maybe in a matter of years Birdie will be president of the ball club."

Birdie reiterated earlier statements that he would not interfere with field manager Fred Haney.

Iowa, Nebraska Football Powers To Visit Lincoln Teams Tonight

GAMES TONIGHT
Omaha South at Lincoln High, 7:30 p.m.
Sioux City Heelan at Pius X, 8 p.m.
Northeast at Omaha Westside

By Bob McCoy

Prep football powers from Nebraska and Iowa will be on display tonight as 3 Capital City clubs bid for upsets in one of the roughest slates of the season.

The list of opponents includes two teams in The Star's Nebraska Top Ten Class A ratings and the 3rd-ranked club in Iowa.

Lincoln High, Pius X and Lincoln Northeast will be the 3 Lincoln clubs in action, and each is expected to be an underdog.

Lincoln High plays against unbeaten Omaha South, the No. 2 club in Nebraska in a home game at the Oval while Pius X closes its home season against Sioux City Heelan, another unbeaten club and a high-ranking Iowa power. Northeast is on the road, testing Omaha Westside, the No. 6 Nebraska team.

Lincoln High appears to have the best chance of pulling off an upset after a surprising 33-0 walloping of Omaha North last week. But tonight's contest will be a much tougher assignment for the Links.

South, with a 4-0-1 record which includes a tie with top-rated Creighton Prep, has a wide edge over the Links on paper and is expected to prove it. The Packers blanked common foe Omaha Central 27-0 in an early season game while Lincoln High dropped a 32-20 decision to the Eagles. The Links have a 3-2 record for the year.

Pius X is figured to have little chance against Heelan. Heelan's 4-0-1 record includes a scoreless tie with Sioux City Central, the top-ranked team in the Hawkeye state.

Pius has a 4-1-1 mark, but it isn't expected to hold up tonight.

Nation's No. Ten Club Falls

Columbia, S.C. (AP) — South Carolina smashed 10th nationally ranked Clemson's visions of an undefeated season here Thursday with hard-nosed control football, grinding out a 26-6 victory.

A record State Fair holiday crowd of 46,000 overflowed the stadium as the teams traded second period touchdowns. The bright sunshine and the 80-degree temperatures failed to stop South Carolina's second half Atlantic Coast Conference upset.

Clemson may have indefinitely lost its ace quarterback Harvey White, who suffered a painful shoulder injury late in the game. He scored Clemson's touchdown from the 3-yard line.

South Carolina moved 100 yards to tie it up, fullback John Saunders diving over from the one.

South Carolina began moving into its first State Fair victory in 4 years and the first for Coach Warren Giese, by opening the second half with a 90-yard touchdown drive. Quarterback Bobby Bunch raced wide to the left for 3 yards and the score.

Two 4th period touchdowns on drives of 43 and 79 yards put the icing on the Gamecock victory cake. Halfback King Dixon plunged one yard for one of the scores and halfback Alex Hawkins sliced over from the two for the other.

Hawkins scored the game's only conversion when he raced over after the second South Carolina touchdown.

Wake Forest replaced Clemson as ACC leader with a 2-0 record against Clemson's 3-1.

Penalties played a prominent part in the early part of the game. Clemson moved the ball well up to midfield and had an apparent first down when an offside penalty forced the Tigers to punt.

But a penalty helped Clemson to its touchdown. After a weak South Carolina kick gave Clemson the ball at midfield the Tigers apparently were stopped at the Gamecock 30 when a piling on penalty gave Clemson the ball at the 15.

Fullback Doug Cline ran for 3 and 5 yards and White made 4 before scoring. White's two-point conversion pass try was smothered.

BUFF COACH IS CHEERED

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Coach Dal Ward of the University of Colorado was cheered by news that guard John Wooten's knee injury is responding to treatment.

Wooten will be in uniform and may be able to play a part of Saturday's homecoming football game against Nebraska.

Ward eased up on the practice sessions. He said the heavy work of Tuesday and Wednesday did the reserves a lot of good.

A light signal drill is on the program for today after which the Buffaloes will go to a lodge in Boulder Canyon for the night.

Terry Smotherman, first string center, will not be able to play in the Nebraska game. He sprained his ankle in the Iowa State contest last week. Sherman Pruitt will be in the starting lineup at center.

Joe Louis' Wife Seeks Annulment

New York (UPI)—The wife of former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis seeks an annulment on the grounds that Louis refused to have children.

Mrs. Rose Morgan Barrow testified in supreme court that Louis, whose legal name is Barrow, agreed before their marriage in Dec. 1955 to have children. She said she later learned that the promise was false and that Louis told her he didn't want any more children. The ex-fighter has two children by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Barrow, operator of a large Harlem cosmetic business, did not ask for alimony and Louis did not contest the action.

Baltimore Boils Over 'Skin Boss Marshall

Baltimore (AP) — Feeling for Sunday's football game between the Baltimore Colts and Washington Redskins needed building up as much as Marilyn Monroe.

But it's steaming hotter than ever because of George Preston Marshall, owner of the Redskins.

The Colts and their fans will be playing him.

Marshall riled up the squad at a luncheon Monday by blowing his stack at Madison (Buzz) Nutter, the Colt center on offense. Nutter kidded Marshall about not receiving fare home when the Redskins cut him in 1953.

Marshall took the rib seriously and called Nutter a liar.

The exchange has been given a lot of space in Baltimore newspapers and the fans have talked of nothing else since.

They've almost stopped mentioning that the Colts are undefeated in the first 4 games of the National Football League. They just want to beat Marshall now.

The Baltimore - Washington rivalry always has been hot, from the Colt side anyway. The cities are only 40 miles apart.

Some Baltimoreans resented Marshall demanding $150,000 in territorial tribute to admit Baltimore to the NFL in 1950.

Colt fans also objected when Marshall charged them the same price for every seat in the Washington stadium for last year's game.

He boasted it was the highest total gate for any sports event ever held in Washington.

When Baltimore joined the NFL, Marshall said he advised against trying to create by publicity a feud with Washington because of the proximity of the two teams. It hasn't been necessary.

The two teams have taken care of that on the field with hair-raising, close games.

The biggest margin has been Washington's 27-17 in 1953, the first year Baltimore returned to the league after a 3-year lapse.

The total point difference has been only 10 points in the last 4 games.

Washington won 24-21 and 14-13 in 1954 and 1955. Baltimore has taken the last two with time running out, 19-17 and 21-17.

This past along with the undefeated status of the Colts appeared enough to lure a record home attendance Sunday. Marshall guaranteed the high of 52,622 at the Chicago Bear game Oct. 4 will be exceeded.

Austria Hoping For 1964 Olympics

Vienna (AP) — Austria's chances of staging both the 1964 winter and summer Olympic games are growing brighter, Austrian education minister Dr. Heinrich Drimmel said Thursday.

The winter games should be held in Innsbruck and the summer event in Vienna, he said.

Hoosier Coach Denies Charges

Bloomington, Ind. (AP)—Coach Phil Dickens said he couldn't keep still any longer about published reports, largely in Columbus, Ohio, that his Indiana football team "played dirty" in its 59-8 defeat by Ohio State last Saturday.

Dickens said his squad is "a fine group of boys, who may not be the best football players around, but who play hard—and clean—and with an incredible amount of courage."

"My staff and I have been over our game movies dozens of times," Dickens said. "We can find no basis for these sweeping charges and insinuations.

"Certainly there are some infractions but they are isolated and they'll occur in every game — and on both sides of the line."

Indiana has won one game against 3 defeats. Last year it was 1 win and 8 losses.

Murtaugh Named Top Manager In Majors

New York (AP) — As if there were any doubts about it, the voters in the Associated Press poll have made the selection official. Danny Murtaugh is major league manager of the year.

The man who piloted the Pittsburgh Pirates to second place in the National League race after they generally had been picked to finish 7th or 8th was a landslide choice of the sportswriters and sportscasters taking part in the balloting.

He received 149 votes. Bill Rigney of the San Francisco Giants, in second place, was first choice of 6 voters; Fred Haney of the National League champion Milwaukee Braves and Casey Stengel of the world champion New York Yankees each received 5 nominations.

Murtaugh has the added distinction of being the first manager to be chosen on a ballot which encompassed the managers in both leagues. Previously the Associated Press poll selected a manager for each league last year Lopez, was the choice in the American league, and Haney, who gave Milwaukee its first World Series title, was the National League selection.

Murtaugh

It was Murtaugh's first full season as a major league manager.

It was in a tie with the Chicago Cubs for 7th place when the season ended, and few had the temerity to pick them for a higher position this year, there were just too many problems facing the 41-year-old former second baseman, who had been a coach with Pittsburgh for almost two years.

But what he did with his mixture of callow youth and grizzled veterans verged on a baseball miracle.

At the half-way point of the campaign the Bucs were in 7th place in the tight National League race, just two games ahead of the Los Angeles Dodgers. They had won 36 games, but the leading Braves had won only 42.

The team gradually jelled as the season progressed. Murtaugh stuck pretty close to one lineup. His one major change was in putting young Dick Stuart to alternate in the cleanup spot with big Ted Kluszewski.

DrakeToSchedule Minor Grid Teams

Des Moines (AP)—Prof. Frank Gardner, chairman of Drake's athletic council, said Thursday night it appears the school will play a "minor" football schedule in 1959.

He said football scheduling problems were the top order of business at a meeting of the council.

Three dates remain to be filled on the 1959 schedule.

CADETS RUNNING SCARED

West Point, N. Y. (AP)—Army is the No. 1 college football team of the nation and Pittsburgh is not in the first 20. But Coach Earl Blaik rates Saturday's game the toughest so far this year for his men "under present conditions."

The reasons?

1. The possibility that Capt. Pete Dawkins, Army's great left halfback may not be able to play because of a pulled muscle in the thigh and the loss of fullback Harry Walters, out with a sprained ankle.

2. Army has played Pitt 3 times in Pittsburgh and lost all 3. Pitt leads 5-2 in their series.

3. And Pitt is a very good team.

Dawkins, the unbeaten Cadets' leading scorer with 42 points, suffered his injury in the first quarter of the game with Virginia last Saturday. Walters was hurt in the same encounter.

Will Dawkins be able to play?

"Frankly it's improbable," said Blaik Thursday. "He hasn't practiced all week and won't do any except for our signal drill after we arrive in Pittsburgh. Then, and only then, will we decide.

"Dawkins and Walters were our best players against Pitt last year," sighed Blaik. "That was their top game (won by Army 29-13). And now with Pitt's line faster and more mobile and its backfield stronger, we sure could use Harry and Pete."

Hawks Squeak

St. Louis (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks all but blew a 15-point lead in the last 3 minutes and just barely hung on to defeat the Detroit Pistons in their National Basketball Association opener here 104-103. The Pistons scored 14 straight points at the finish.

Nebraska's Emanuel, McCashland Praised

By The AP

Howard Cook, a tailor-made tailback for Colorado University's slashing single wing attack, is setting the pace for football backs in the Midlands seeking All-America and regional football honors.

For the first time in a decade the Oklahoma Sooners have no standout candidate for one of the All-American backfield slots. The Sooners have capable hands that could come along fast in remaining games, however.

Cook, a 185-pound senior from Worland, Wyo., has been the key attack man in Colorado's first 4 victories. He leads the Big Eight Conference scoring with 6 touchdowns, two placekick conversions and one field goal for 41 points. He is second in rushing with 373 yards and a 6.7 average, is second in punt returns with a 12.9 average and is well up among the passers.

Outshone by Cook through the first half of the season but commended by the Associated Press regional nominating board of sportscasters and reporters for exceptional play are 11 other backs.

Included are Dwight Nichols, Iowa State's fine left half; Phil Snowden, Missouri quarterback who leads the Big Eight in passing with 400 yards; Boyd Dowler, Colorado quarterback; Homer Floyd, Kansas' fleet little halfback; sophomore halfback Mel West, Missouri, who leads the league in rushing with 375 yards; Ronnie Morris, Tulsa halfback; Ben Goese, Kansas State field goal expert; Dick McCashland, Nebraska fullback; Prentice Gautt, fullback, and David Baker, quarterback, both of Oklahoma, and Oklahoma State quarter Dickie Soergel.

In its first report on linemen the board singled out Bob Harrison, Oklahoma center, and Colorado guard John Wooten. It also liked Jim Wood, Oklahoma State end; John Peppercorn, Kansas tackle; Opie Bandy, Tulsa guard; Missouri guards Charlie Rash and Don Chadwick; Gale Gibson, Iowa State end; Dennis Emanuel, Nebraska guard; end Ced Price and guard Dave Noblitt, Kansas State.

Top Games In Light Prep Slate

By Al Beebe

It's a light but meaty schedule in Nebraska prep football tonight.

There are two important Big 10 Conference games, including a chance for Columbus to wrap up the East division playoff bid at Norfolk; there is Omaha South's invasion of Lincoln High, and the appearance of Iowa's No. 3 team in Lincoln; in addition, there are games involving rated B and C powers.

Columbus at Norfolk: Discoverers should take this one easily.

North Platte at Scottsbluff: Bearcats romp to another West Big 10 win.

Omaha South at Lincoln High: Links will have to show another tremendous improvement to upset high-flying Packers.

Holdrege at Cozad: Stiff Haymaker defense should slow, but not stop, powerful Holdrege in Class B battle.

Sioux City Heelan at Pius X: Unbeaten Heelan should have a breather with Pius, which steps out of its class by far.

Lincoln Northeast at Omaha Westside: Rockets take it on chin from a rated team.

Arapahoe at Alma: Both are unbeaten Class C powers, Alma should keep rolling.

The others (selection in black type):

Aurora at Seward, Bayard at Kimball, Bridgeport at Gering, Crete at Falls City, Gothenburg at Ogallala, Sidney at McCook, Oshkosh at Morrill, CB TeeJay at Omaha Benson.

Dodgers, Giants Pay $300,000

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—President Leslie O'Connor of the Pacific Coast League Thursday said the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants paid a total of $300,000 in the past year as part of an indemnity payment.

O'Connor said the payments were made in installments during the season and represented ⅓ of the total amount agreed upon when the Dodgers and Giants moved into the two PCL sites.

Katt Bullpen Coach

St. Louis (AP)—Catcher Ray Katt will serve as bullpen coach for the St. Louis Cardinals for the 1959 season, the club announced Thursday.

Kearney Hosts Wesleyan Tonight In NCC Weekend Football Feature

Kearney — Nebraska Wesleyan and Kearney tangle here tonight in the Nebraska College Conference football headliner for this week.

The contest will pit the unbeaten Antelopes, tied for the NCC lead and a heavy favorite to cop loop laurels, against surprising Wesleyan, a team capable of an upset.

Kearney is 4-0 in NCC play and is tied with virtually untested Chadron and Peru for the lead. Wesleyan's 3-1 conference record is good for a 4th place tie with Hastings, the latest Kearney victim.

Superior manpower is expected to mean the difference in the 7:30 p.m. contest tonight, with Kearney the favorite.

Coach Al Zikmund paraded 44 Antelopes into action against Hastings last week as Kearney wore down the invading Broncos to the tune of 35-13. A 26-6 Hastings win over Wesleyan gives Kearney a big edge in tonight's game.

Kearney is rated 12th in the NAIA list of top small-college football teams and has a 9-game winning string going into the contest.

The game will match two of the NCC's most potent backfields. Kearney's starting backs will include Gene Lawhead, Claire Boroff, Larry Jacobson and Gary Smidt while Wesleyan is slated to go with Lonnie Johnson, Gary Hofmann, Chuck Evans and Bob Johnson.

Hofmann is one of the top ground-gainers in the conference while Boroff leads the loop in scoring and listed high nationally.

In other NCC action this week, all games on Saturday, Peru receives its first stiff test at Hastings, Chadron faces in-and-out Midland, Doane plays against winless Dana and Wayne meets Concordia.

U.S. Leading Russia In Electric Power—Seaton

Hastings, Neb. (AP)—Interior Secretary Fred Seaton declared Thursday night the U.S. is far ahead of Russia in electric power and is lengthening its lead.

"Between 1950 and 1956," said Seaton, "the U.S. installed generating capacity at an annual rate nearly 3 times that of the USSR."

At the end of that time, this country had more than 137 million kilowatts of installed capacity and Russia less than 43 million, said the cabinet member. He explained 1956 is the last year for which we have Russian figures.

To match us by 1975, he estimated, the Russians will have to build the equivalent of 8 Grand Coulee Dams every year for 17 years. Grand Coulee, on the Columbia River in Washington is the world's biggest concrete dam. Its rated output is nearly two million kilowatts.

Seaton indicated his power comparisons were in response to a Portland, Ore., speech by Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass).

"Someone evidently told him that the Russians are way ahead of us in installing electric power facilities," said Seaton, "and he didn't bother to check the record. So he charged out to Portland and made a speech heavy with gloom. . ."

Seaton was the main speaker Thursday night at the Nebraska Reclamation Assn. convention.

Seaton described the policy of the Eisenhower administration as one "designed to put water on the land and get kilowatts on the line."

He called the Hells Canyon federal dam on the Snake River in Idaho "the reclamation fraude of the 20th Century."

He said the administration's opposition is based on "the Federal Power Commission's finding that 3 dams built by a private company, at no cost to the taxpayers, would practically match the federal dam in flood control and power generation benefits."

Seaton, a Hastings publisher, called the Nebraska Mid-State Reclamation District "one of the most encouraging demonstrations of local co-operation I have witnessed during my tenure as Secretary of the Interior."

Irrigation Generates Complex Problems, Water Group Told

Hastings, Neb. (AP) — The fact that irrigation is more than just running water over the land was stressed Thursday at a joint meeting of the Nebraska Irrigation and Reclamation Assns.

A panel discussing drainage and water disposal problems brought out that problems generated by irrigation are many and complex.

Members of the panel included State Engineer L. N. Ress, D. R. Vallicott, Soil Conservation Service engineer; T. A. Filipi, director for the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District.

Ress told of irrigation waste water flooding highway and county road ditches, causing a weakening of the roads and shoulders and making maintenance almost impossible.

Vallicott said one of the major reasons behind inefficient irrigation is "cheap water." In some areas, it is so cheap that farmers don't mind wasting it, he said.

He also touched on the problem of entire communities working together to arrange for water disposal systems. The Farwell District, under the Bureau of Reclamation, has planned a complete water disposal system, he said.

Johnson touched on the possibility of installing drainage wells which can take water when there is too much and serve as irrigation wells when the water supply is short.

The panel, however, agreed with Johnson that much work and research needs to be done before such systems can be put to use.

Filipi discussed pollution and increased use of chemical fertilizer by the farmer.

E. C. Reed, director of the conservation and survey division at the University of Nebraska, told the joint convention that "we are still feeling the affects of a precipitation deficiency during the 1931-40 drought."

He noted there was some improvement in 1941-51, but said the drought of 1952-56 took care of the recovery.

Reed said the 1958 measurement of wells isn't complete, but in 1957, 28 of the state's 93 counties showed a rise in ground water levels, and 19 counties recorded lower levels than the year previous.

Grain Marketing System Nearing Breakdown, Rail Executive Warns

Sidney, Neb.—"The orderly open-and-above-board system of marketing grain and other agricultural commodities is in the progress of breaking down," a railroad executive said at the Nebraska State Wheat Show here Thursday night.

Clair M. Roddewig, president of the Association of Western Railways at Chicago, Ill., made the statement at the evening program climaxing the Wheat Show.

"The complete breakdown in marketing agricultural commodities will come," Roddewig said, "unless regulation is extended to all forms of for-hire transportation."

"Transportation of grain and agricultural products, part of which is moved under regulation by railroads and part by unregulated motor vehicles and barges, cannot continue indefinitely without market demoralization," Roddewig said.

A University of Nebraska scientist predicted that plant breeding may be able to choose cafeteria style the best characteristic of several varieties of wheat with the end result a super variety.

If such an ideal wheat variety is developed, microscopic chromosomes will be the principal research tool, according to Dr. Rosalind Morris, of the College of Agriculture department of agronomy.

Identifying the lineup of genes and chromosomes and how they determine the characteristics of Nebraska winter wheats are objectives of current studies of Mr. Morris.

First Experience With White Corn A Pleasant One

Falls City, Neb. (AP) — Frank R. Bucholz's first experience with white corn has been a pleasant one.

His farm is located in the east-west band across the northern part of Richardson County which was swept by hail on July 10. Insurance adjusters estimated the patch of white corn had been damaged 30% and settled with him on that basis.

Buchholz is harvesting the field now and estimates that it is making 80 bushels to the acre.

FRB OKs Hike In Discount Rates For Five Reserve Banks

Washington (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board brought its discount rate closer into line with the high cost of money. It permitted 5 reserve banks to boost the rate to 2½%.

The rate, now 2%, will be increased by banks in Philadelphia, Richmond, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Dallas. The other 7 reserve banks are expected to take similar action later.

The discount rate is the interest charged member banks when they borrow from the reserve system.

A discount rate increase normally is intended to tighten credit and discourage inflationary borrowing. In this case, however, a board spokesman indicated the move was designed to narrow the gap between the discount rate and other short term interest charges, which have been substantially higher in recent weeks.

Sufficient

Some reserve board officials have indicated they feel they already have tightened credit sufficiently.

This is the 2nd discount rate increase in a little more than two months. It was boosted in mid-August from 1¾ to 2%.

The rate is the interest charged member banks when they borrow from the reserve system.

A reserve board spokesman declined to comment on the reason for the action. However, he noted that the 2% discount rate was well below the Treasury's short-term borrowing cost of 2.8% and other interest rates in general.

Technical

Normally an increase in the discount rate is intended to tighten credit in order to counter inflation threats. In this case, however, it was believed that technical considerations bulked larger in the board's thinking.

The board likes to keep the discount rate in line with the interest on 91-day Treasury bills and other short-term interest charges. It does this in order to discourage bank from borrowing from the reserve system and investing the borrowings in Treasury bills.

It was believed that the new boost in the discount rate was a move to follow the money market rather than lead it.

Some reserve board officials have indicated recently the view that credit-tightening has gone far enough for the present.

'Russian Pupil's Learning A Conditioned Response'

"The two most important people in the life and history of Russia are Lenin and Pavlov," because the Russian student, like Pavlov's dog, is trained to conditional learning.

That was the opinion expressed before the Nebraska Council of Better Education by Lincoln Ass't. Superintendent of Schools R. L. Fredstrom.

In a "review of the general framework" of the Soviet educational system Fredstrom pointed out that since the period of 1917-1918, when there was a literacy rate of 25% and less than 5% were in school, the number of literate Russians has increased to 90% and one-third of the population is in school.

He noted the following aspects of Soviet Education and economy:

There is a compulsory school program present in which the student must enroll at age 7. Prior to this he goes to nursery school as early as 2-months old to age 3 and kindergarten for 4 more years.

Numbers For Quality

The average Russian worker can turn out only 40% of the production rate of the American worker. But in order to out-produce the United States the Soviets are making up for the loss of productivity per man by employing greater numbers.

This includes the employment of more women. Along this line the nursery school accomplishes its 3 purposes: 1) allowing the mothers to work; 2) training the children; and 3) training the mothers.

In higher education the schools are doing what is best for the mother land. They have a student body consisting of 75% in the field of math and science.

Three-quarters of their students are on a government stipend, with the provision that they receive an increased stipend for better work.

"The Russian government and the Russian people are really worshipping at the feet of science and math," he added. They have a "materialistic outlook," and their education is very circumscribed," Fredstrom said.

Scientists Can't Explain Balloon Satellite Failure

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—Disappointed missile scientists were at a loss to explain what happened to the Army's latest space venture—an attempt to blast a beacon balloon satellite into orbit.

"The thing did not work properly and we don't know just yet what caused the trouble," said Dr. Jack Froehlich, one of the chief scientists in the project.

Hope was abandoned that the 12-foot diameter plastic and aluminum foil balloon would ever be spotted. Hundreds of volunteer "moonwatch" observers and 41 tracking cameras throughout the world were advised to call off the search 3 hours after the mighty Jupiter-C launching rocket roared aloft with a flash of white flame.

Froehlich, who heads the satellite program for the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said no conclusions could be made until data available on the flight had been analyzed.

In Wake

A Snark intercontinental guided missile was launched 6 hours later in the wake of the Army failure.

The Snark, which makes up for its slow 600 m.p.h. flight speed by performing with amazing accuracy, is the only U.S. missile now capable of traveling the 6,000-mile intercontinental range.

The sleek turbojet powered missile, now nearly operational, was fired on a 3,000 mile trip and return to the Cape. The fiery takeoff appeared to be perfect as the 69-foot missile roared over the Atlantic.

Air Force officials here declined to announce the results of the test for security reasons.

Heaviest

At 42.77 pounds, it was the heaviest payload yet for the workhorse Jupiter-C.

Froehlich said the balloon rocket's course was tracked for 7 or 8 minutes, but then only silence followed. The Army lost contact with its huge 5-stage missile at an altitude of about 150 miles.

The 3rd failure in 6 Army satellite attempts climaxed a dismal month at the Cape during which 4 ballistic weapons exploded and two satellites—Vanguard and Beacon—were unsuccessful.

The only bright spot came on Oct. 11 when the Air Force's majestic Pioneer moon rocket soared to a record shattering 79,212 miles in space. However, it too plummeted back to earth and burned.

Butler Calls Ike Campaign Capitulation To Nixon Ugly Tactics

Washington (AP) —Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic National Committee described President Eisenhower's campaign speeches as "unpleasant and pitiful . . . capitulation to the ugly tactics of Mr. Nixon."

Butler said the Vice President has forced both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles "to reverse themselves and accept his divisive tactics." He added in a speech for a democratic rally in suburban Bethesda, Md.:

"I do not know what could cause the President to renounce as 'too positive' the White House statement charging Democrats with being for 'socialism' and 'nationalization' one day and a few days later accuse the Democrats of trying to inflict 'left wing . . . overpowering . . . spendthrift . . . frustrated and stymied government' as well as 'bureaucratic badgering' on the American people.

"Whatever it was, it was a sad departure from the pose as 'President of all the people' and a ridiculous reversion of the vocabulary and ideas of the 19th Century."

Butler said there are serious deficiencies in the fields of defense, agriculture, housing, the general economy and other areas, yet Eisenhower characterizes those who advocate corrective action as left wingers and radicals.

'Not Impressed'

Chicago (UPI)—Adlai Stevenson said he was not impressed with "the new Eisenhower."

"I don't care anymore for the new Eisenhower than I do for the old Nixon," he said in a brief comment on the President's speech in Chicago.

The two-time Democratic presidential candidate said "I think the speech was beneath the President of the United States."

Marlinton, W.Va. (UPI) — Sen. George A. Smathers said "the country would be better off with the 'old Eisenhower' and the 'new Nixon.'

The Florida Democrat, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, also scoffed at President Eisenhower's "newly-found voice in calling for the passage of labor legislation."

He told a Democratic rally here that the President "makes a strange contrast to the silent Ike who failed to speak out when a racket-curbing labor bill was defeated earlier this year by Republican congressmen."

Rodgers To Direct Collegiate GOP

Gary L. Rodgers, University of Nebraska pre-law junior from Osmond, has been named college director of the Nebraska Young Republicans.

His appointment was announced by William H. Palmer, Young GOP state chairman.

Rodgers

Rodgers, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. Edwin Rodgers, is treasurer of the Midwest Federation of College Young Republicans and a past executive board member of the University Young Republican Club.

He was a Pierce County delegate to the 1958 Nebraska State Republican convention.

Nixon Roundly Endorses N.Y. Candidate Rockefeller

New York (AP)—Vice President Nixon said Nelson Rockefeller offers the "dynamic leadership" to keep New York in the forefront in competition with California and other states.

In an informal 30-minute state telecast, Nixon roundly endorsed the gubernatorial candidacy of the man whose election probably would make him the Vice President's chief rival for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon, whose campaigning in New York obviously was looked upon by Rockefeller as a liability rather than as an asset, dramatically endorsed the man who wouldn't come to dinner with him at the Theodore Roosevelt Anniversary celebration in suburban Garden City.

Rockefeller, who has depreciated some of Nixon's free-swinging attacks on the Democrat's, spoke, instead, at an All-America dinner in Manhattan.

Great Lengths

Ignoring this obvious political snub, Nixon went to great lengths in his television appearance to endorse Rockefeller as an able administrator who is deeply dedicated to the best interests of the United States and who is not partisan in his viewpoint.

Shortly before Nixon's speech, Rockefeller in an apparent change of plans said he will meet with the Vice President later.

The purpose of the meeting, Rockefeller said, would be just to say hello before Nixon leaves the city.

Nixon in his speech said his campaign travels over the United States had demonstrated to him that every state in the union is competing with others to attract industry and to provide jobs.

Obviously alluding to the prospects that California eventually may out-distance New York in population, Nixon said New York needs "the imagination and bold view enterprise" that Rockefeller offers to keep ahead of the challenging tide.

Block Threat

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks said election of an irresponsible Congress "controlled by Democratic left wingers and big city bosses" could block the country's recovery.

Adopting the slambang technique used recently by President Eisenhower, as well as Vice President Nixon and other Republican campaigners, Weeks made generous use of the epithets "radical," "socialist," and "spendthrift" in assailing his party's foes.

'Good Friends'

Monterey, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Goodwin Knight, talking with reporters before a Republican rally, said "there is no terrific rift" between him and Sen. William F. Knowland.

"In realty," the GOP senatorial candidate claimed, "we are good friends." Knight switched from the governor to the Senate race after Knowland came out for governor. He since had declined to endorse Knowland publicly.

Wilson Charged With First Degree Murder

Omaha (AP)—A charge of first degree murder was filed late Thursday against Luther Wesley Wilson, 30, of Omaha.

He is accused of killing Raymond Rasmussen, 31, a liquor store clerk, in a holdup attempt last Feb. 28.

The warrant was read to a silent Wilson in his city jail cell, just minutes after it was signed by a municipal judge.

Rasmussen was shot to death Feb. 28 while clerking in an Omaha liquor store.

Wilson was arrested Oct. 11 and has been charged with the $5,000 Bluvas Bar robbery 9 days earlier.

Held as a witness in the Rasmussen case is Marvin Dilwood, 16, of Omaha who was arrested Tuesday in Fort Gibson, Okla. He was flown back to Omaha. Officers said he had admitted participation in the Bluvas robbery.

Dilwood told investigators he was outside the Fisher Liquor Store on the night of Feb. 28 and knew Wilson was planning to rob the place. He denied any participation in the plan.

Rasmussen, 31, was a part-time clerk in the store. He was the father of 5.

Dilwood said Wilson went into the liquor store, shot Rasmussen and fled without taking anything.

Couple Gets Probation For Abortion

A Lincoln man and his wife pleaded guilty Thursday in Lancaster District Court to reduced charges of abortion and were each placed on two-year probation by Judge Harry A. Spencer.

Harry Stevens, 42, and his wife Mollie, 49, both of 1121 Q, had previously pleaded innocent to a "foeticide" charge, which carried a penalty upon conviction of from 1 to 10 years in the State Penitentiary.

But Chief Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrnbruch amended the charges to "abortion" (which carries a penalty of up to one year in the County Jail and-or a $500 fine) and the couple entered the guilty pleas.

Both Stevens and his wife were charged with intent to procure a miscarriage of their 15-year-old daughter's unborn child between last March 21 and Apr. 22. Their daughter reportedly suffered a miscarriage as a result of their acts.

The girl, Barbara Anne Stevens, is now in a children's home at the order of the Juvenile Court.

Another woman also charged in the case, Mrs. Ruth Emory, 30, also of Lincoln, has pleaded innocent to a foeticide charge and is now awaiting trial.

GRAIN PRICES FINISH LOWER

Chicago (AP)—Bearish influences continued to plague the grain markets Thursday and most Board of Trade futures finished lower.

Only rye demonstrated strength, ending with gains of up to more than a cent after advancing more than two cents a bushel at one time.

Wheat closed ⅝ higher to ¼ lower, December $1.92⅝-93; corn ⅝ to ⅞ lower, old style December $1.10¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, December 64½; rye ½ to 1⅜ higher, December $1.29⅝-¾, and soybeans ⅝ to 1¼ lower, November $2.11⅛-¼.

Wheat rallied for a brief period late in the session when all contracts were up fractions from Wednesday's closes, but then declined in the final minutes of trading as liquidation and profit taking again took command.

Corn and soybeans again were affected by hedge selling and good weather for harvesting and conditioning the crops. Receipts of corn at Chicago, while smaller than earlier in the week, still were considered very high. Demand was slow.

Oats held steady, closing mostly unchanged from the previous session.

BOND MARKET

New York (AP)—Corporate bonds advanced in fairly active trading Thursday while U.S. government bonds were mostly firm.

Indutrials led the corporate advance followed by investment quality issues and utilities. Rails and foreign bonds eased.

The discount rate was raised from 2 to 2½% effective Friday at 5 of the Federal Reserve's 12 districts. Moving up were Philadelphia, Richmond, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Dallas. The others remain at 2%, but are expected eventually to fall in ine with the higher level.

The discount rate, what the Federal Reserve charges member banks when they borrow from it to make their own commercial loans, is a basic money market rate. Such a boost had been rumored since short term interest rates have risen considerably in recent weeks.

Corporate trading rose to $5,470,000 par value on the big board from $4,340,000 Wednesday.

CB&Q To Raze 28 Locomotive Stalls

Razing of the Burlington roundhouse will begin in "the very near future" according to Jack Vogel, Burlington general foreman.

Twenty-eigt of the 43 steam locomotive stalls at the roundhouse will be torn down, he said. Stalls 1-15 will be retained to house diesel engines.

Vogel said the tearing-down process will take about two months, and is part of Burlington's program of switching entirely to diesel power.

The razing will begin when all steam engines are shipped out of Lincoln, Vogel explained.

Foundation Head Says Public Attitude Must Be Changed

By Nancy Benjamin

"The American public are the ones who have the wrong attitude that must be changed before schools can be effective," District I teachers were warned Thursday.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Foundation, reviewed the history of U.S. educational thinking and told secondary school teachers: "Don't be apologetic about the past."

The present "widespread interest in education bordering upon hysteria" is due to a change in public attitude toward the schools. Where the public formerly favored de-emphasized scholastic standards and stress upon happiness for the child, the mood has now changed to one favoring new stress on values and standards and priorities in education, he said.

Pressure from "nagging demands of small segments of society" have led to the expansion of the high school curricula way beyond the main purpose of education "to train the intellect," Stalnaker said.

'Forced On Schools'

Many of the additions, including the teaching of "driver education" courses were forced upon the schools from outside pressure or from neglect, he stated.

"The schools have been forced to take over the functions of the home, or of the church, or sometimes even of the psychiatrist."

He also pointed out the faults in complete "grass roots supervision by boards of education" which encourages smaller schools and gives to incentive for improvement. "Redistricting," he added, is one of the nation's major needs.

"An intellectual renaissance must come from the American home or we are doomed," he said, criticizing the popular conception that a football team is of more importance than a physics department.

"Those who read books are considered by most of the public to be deviates," he stated. "More money is spent yearly on TV repairs than on all the books bought."

Encourage Reading—Even Comic Books, Speaker Urges

Dr. Ralph M. Wardle, chairman of the University of Omaha English department, startled English and speech educators with the statement that "children should be encouraged to read anything—even comic books."

Stressing the need for development of reading skills in a day when "many distractions deter it" he urged teachers to use any methods available to convince children that reading is fun.

He suggested that methods of interesting students in reading could include word games, reading aloud to them, and "any method that will impart your enthusiasm in reading to them."

He added that interest in words must also be stimulated and pointed out that vocabulary and success in business life are closely correlated.

Specialist Stresses Physical Education

Elsa Schneider, specialist with the U.S. Department of Health Welfare and Education, brought elementary school teachers up to date on the present needs for physical education "brought about by the increasing standards of living."

She pointed out that children now ride to school, rather than walk, and often receive much less than the minimum amount of exercise needed for growth and health.

Stressing the role of the classroom teacher in maintaining the mental and physical health of their students, she explained that "in perfecting and developing children's skills, we allow them to take part in the group activities, to be accepted and wanted. Play is as important in a child's development as other learning."

'Know Individual'

Speaking to more than 300 members of the Assn. for Childhood Education, Miss Schneider reviewed the importance of getting to know and understand the individual student and teach him in the way best suited for him.

Reviewing her recent European schools systems study, she added that teachers in foreign countries must meet the same challenge in schools which are run by state officials outside the systems. . .

Merit Pay Stressed

A University of Denver business education professor told teachers that "one of the new—and, to education, revolutionary—changes for business teachers is their need to accept the coming principle of merit pay."

Dr. John Binnion said that teachers may have to study the plan, promote it, and conduct in-service programs on it, but cautioned that "merit systems do not need to be established and arbitrarily administered by principals and superintendents."

Stressing the need for a board background in liberal education for all teachers, Dr. Binnion commented that "too much emphasis on science and math can be a serious mistake. If we do believe in individual differences, we must admit that not everyone is either interested or capable of giving major emphasis to these areas."

Soviet Reviewed

Dr. R. L. Fredstrom, Lincoln Public Schools assistant superintendent, reviewed the present level of mathematics teaching in the USSR for secondary schools mathematics teachers, and demonstrated the emphasis given the subject in the Soviet with statistics on time devoted to the subject and sample questions asked Russian youngsters.

He told that group that "in one way at least, the U.S. and USSR are alike: both are devoted to the belief that education is the right of all the people."
